Remember the Days of the Old Schoolyard?

The 1979 Wellesleyan takes on the important task of trying to place in a context all the memories, events, and friendships that have crystallized our high school years.

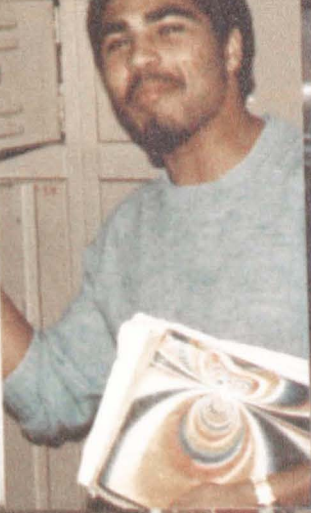

After graduation we may move to new and separate locations, yet we will still maintain a oneness with each other for the relationships, experiences, and growth we have shared. It is for this reason that we consider a collection such as this one a valuable keepsake.

Memories have a habit of remaining clear for the immediate future, yet fade quickly away as new opportunities and alternatives arise. It is not possible to retain everything that has been a part of us. A yearbook is nothing more than a gathering of photographs along with an interpretation of their significance. It takes nothing more than a quick glance through these pages to set the mind in motion triggering endearing thoughts of these meaningful years.

People — the Real Personality of Wellesley High School

Could you imagine: a football game without the band . . . a colorless art room . . . a classroom lacking humor . . . a concert without the harmonious blend of voices . . . the fields without the athletes . . . the absence of laughter in the halls . . . an actorless stage . . . or high school without your friends? Separate personalities are what made Wellesley High unique and together they made us exciting. Without each individual contribution to the whole, the outcome and impact of our years here would not have been the same. With maturity came the realization one could be part of a group while still retaining one's own identity.

"To be nobody-but-yourself in a world which is doing its best night and day, to make you everybody else, means to fight the hardest battle which any human being can fight and never stop fighting."

Day by Day

Cunningham)

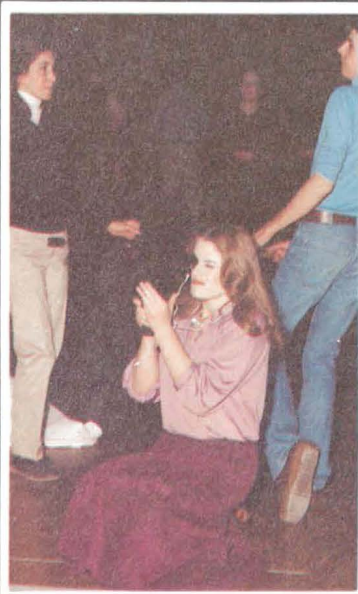

A circle of friendship.

Although most kids claimed they "lived for" the weekends, the school week, too, had its appeal. Relaxing between classes, a quick snack in the cafe, a few moments of intense cramming, a couple of hours of strenuous practice, a music recital, attending meetings for a special project or upcoming event, or the perfecting of an in-class assignment were all common occurrences that filled the day of a Wellesley High School Student. Students whose activities were not school-centered still found enjoyment and employment at nearby gas stations, supermarkets or subshops. Creative personalities worked on Club '79, the Senior Banquet and the Senior Movie. After-school rap sessions with teachers and with coaches were enjoyable, educational and eliminated some of the existing barriers. Socializing with our friends, performing at what we did best; be it in music, drama, or athletics, making a little extra pocket money, or doing "what came naturally" occupied many of our remaining hours.

Why did it always seem that there was too much that we wanted or had to do and not enough time to do it? Lost sleep was a price we didn't mind paying in order to "do it all."

"All I do is water it once a day." (Paula Marcini)

Two who worked overtime to satisfy the in-school munchers (Sandy DeChristofaro, Ellen Bradley)

Athletics: From the Opening Kickoff to the Final Putt

What was it about athletics that drew us to endure the agony of four-corner drilling, endless laps in a pool or around a track or the long work-outs at a wrestling practice followed by the inability to "munch out" at home? There was an intense feeling of gratification that accompanied the grueling physical exertion.

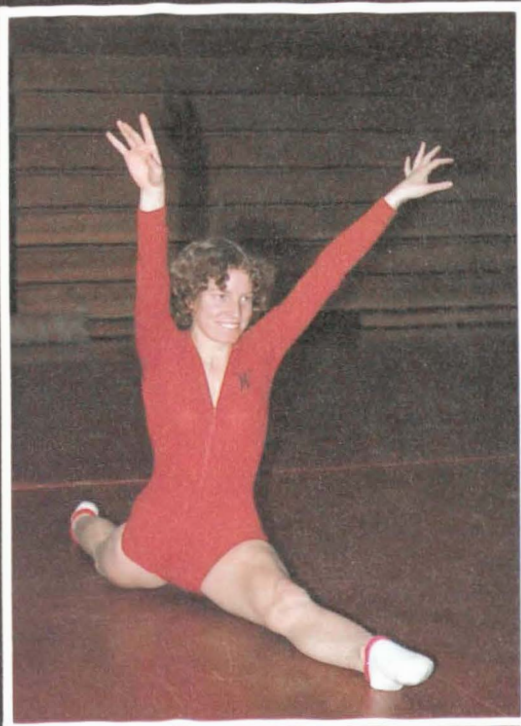

The restriction of sitting quietly behind a desk could be counterbalanced by an invigorating sports session. In athletics, one could freely exhibit and release the pent-up vitality that had accumulated during a school day. For the multitude of students who found in sports a welcome release, competition proved to be a keystone of enjoyment.

Pride: the donning of the Red and White, both athletes and spectators experienced that feeling of warmth when the insignia and name of our school appeared on the shirts of a team or individual sportsman. A drive to attain the unattainable was born and nurtured.

But by far the most enriching element of the season was the friends we made. The friendships often remained strong even after the memories of those glorious moments on the field began to wane. The teamwork and camaraderie were a lesson that could not be taught in any classroom.

Wellesley After Dark

Contrary to popular belief, as the sun set over the Wellesley skyline, students still found ways to brighten their nights. Whether it be "tangoing" in togas, tap dancing in tuxes or boogieing in blue jeans, dances loosened tensions and provided a relaxed and happy atmosphere in which to socialize. The high school intermittently opened its doors to an evening of entertainment, whether it be a rally, Gym Show, Variety Show or Badminton Tournament. Ultimately there were the parties topped by Christie Mitchell's Halloween Open-House. When nothing else was going on, a cruise around town could stir up excitement at a local joint such as Danny's, MacDonalds, Drouins, the Wellesley Inn, Schneider, or the Playhouse.

By sunrise one could find most Wellesley High School students safely tucked in bed after a wild night on the town.

"I never promised you a rose garden." (Robert Jaczko, Gretchen Salvatore)

Smile . . . You've Got a Friend

Somehow with good friends to stand beside you those problems which arose never seemed quite as devastating. A reassuring smile or pat on the back from a friend kept you from taking yourself too seriously; let you laugh at your mistakes and take your successes and failures in stride. An expression of love, mutual understanding or just friendliness, a smile had the power to lift the spirits.

Friendship meant the sharing of ideas and concerns, with those who understood and communicated with sincerity. But the best smiles of all were those that came naturally, born from the spontaneity of the moment and cherished because they were genuine.

Up with people! (Lisa Perry, Nancy Maddox, Debbie Perkins, Ellen Goldberg)

Sabbaticals

Janice Barrett

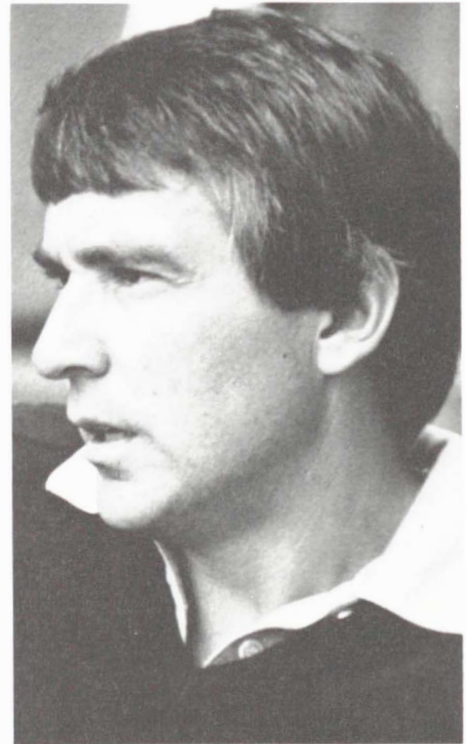

Mr. Hadlock and Mrs. Barrett, were two teachers from the English Department on sabbatical this year.

Mr. Hadlock was gone the first semester and Mrs. Barrett the second. Mr. Hadlock spent his sabbatical researching effective teaching techniques and appropriate methods of evaluating student writing, to develop different curricula, he conferred with experts in the field from various universities.

During the second semester, Mrs. Barrett spent her sabbatical researching communications for the town of Wellesley, in connection with her Master's degree program at Boston University.

EDITOR'S NOTES

As we go to press we learn that our Advisor on Sabbatical, Janice Barrett has been appointed by the Governor a cabinet-position, Assistant Secretary of Human Services.

The busiest agenda for the Senate in many years challenged this year's Faculty Senate to broaden its influence and range. John McDermott helped inspire the organization of a Faculty Senate at the Wellesley Junior High.

The important agenda items:

Reorganization of the department chairmen for 9-12 to 7-12; the 4-year high school for 1985; the enrollment problems affecting staff reductions and program reductions — these were the concerns over which the senate spent many hours of concern.

A major innovation was the joint Senate-School Committee meeting. The other innovation was several joint senate meetings. The outcome of these new communication opportunities was a fresh outlook on perspectives for change.

International Baccalaureate

(Mr. Connors)

(Mr. Vasiuro, Sue Kaplan, Mrs. Fitzpatrick)

(Miss Moore)

(Mr. Ross, Mrs. Alexander)

Wellesley Senior High is the first public high school in New England to offer the International Baccalaureate which attempts to provide a common program for academically oriented individuals who seek to pursue knowledge of all fields. The program also virtually guarantees the student's entrance into any university participating in the plan, providing that the student received his I.B. diploma.

The committee which investigates the course changes to be introduced at the high school is headed by Miss Lynn Moore. A regular panel of teachers meet in order to discuss the alterations within their own departments.

In order to receive an International Baccalaureate Diploma, the candidate must take six subjects, three at a higher level and three at a subsidiary level. The six subjects include a first language, a second language, the study of man, experimental sciences, mathematics, and an elective. The study of man is composed of such areas as history, philosophy, psychology, and anthropology, while the experimental sciences include biology, chemistry, and physics. Some of the elective choices offer art, design, a classical language, a second science, or further mathematics.

In addition to the six subjects, the candidate must work independently in one of his subjects and write an essay about his study. A course entitled The Theory of Knowledge, is also required.

The grading system is based on a scale from 1 to 7. A candidate should receive a mark of 4 or above in any higher level subject. However, the total number of credits necessary to obtain a diploma is 24, indicating that a student may receive a 3 in a subject, as long as it is compensated by a 5 in another area.

Vocational/Technical Education

(Ted Bartholdi)

The Regional Vocational Technical School attended by Wellesley students and located in South Natick, serves youths from Dedham, Milton, and Natick. Its main purpose is to teach technical skills which will enable students to obtain jobs within a competitive labor market. Courses offered include carpentry, cabinet making, commercial art, computer science, electronics, masonry and painting.

In order to graduate from the high school while participating in the program, students must also fulfill the regular school graduation requirements. Students may acquire 15 credits by completing a program supervised by advisor Rocky Edwards.

Independent Study

Students involved in the Independent Study program acquire experience through learning outside the Wellesley Senior High School environment.

Encouraged by coordinator Gig Kerivan, individuals participate in programs ranging from marine biology studies to forestry work. Students are offered diverse opportunities to explore their particular fields of interest.

Among those programs available through organizations and individual professionals, students can aid political figures in their daily decision-making process, or they can serve as a Big Brother or Big Sister to children. Cardiovascular research and computer research are also some examples of student effort and interest.

Initiated to achieve a specific goal, this program is designed to allow students to expand their horizons and pursue their personal endeavors.

Karim Baita worked at the State House.

Alternate Semester

This program, directed by Gig Kerivan, facilitates student involvement in full time internships in which students gain on-the-job experience.

Internship opportunities include student teaching at local elementary schools, working at banking institutions, learning how buildings are erected, or occupying a position within a hospital.

Students work daily and are absent from school for an entire semester, although they earn credits towards graduation through the Alternate Semester program.

By experiencing their jobs on such an intensive level, students experiment with possible future career choices.

Margaret Holtje took time off from her teaching position.

Georgianne Zaglakis chose to major in journalism after she was influenced by the superior journalism of the Townsman.

Paul Andrew studied marine biology at Woods Hole.

Work Study

Students participating in the Work Study program spend their mornings attending classes at the High School, and their afternoons working to earn credits towards graduation.

Weekly one-period meetings with the program's coordinator, Mr. Rockwood Edwards, along with periodic evaluations by their employer, provide the counseling necessary to ensure each participant's success.

Distributive Education

(Alison Eld, Jennifer Pruyne, Amy Tatelbaum)

(Les Montgomery, Linda Berkman)

(Kathy Pearl)

The Distributive Education program, headed by Mr. Phil Connaty, teaches student the principle of retailing and management. In addition to participating in the course, which has been in existence for eight years, students must work in part-time retailing positions around town. Participants are awarded five credits for the job maintained, and five credits for management of the Retail Lab. This lab, or school store was built during the summer of 1978 by members of the program. It provides these students with the actual experience of merchandising, recordkeeping, and advertising.

In charge of the store, were Sandi Decristofaro, Store Manager; Kyle Smith and Marcie Mills, Buyers; Ellen Bradley, Artist/Posters; Amy Tatelbaum, Head Cashier; Bill Frazier, Advertising; Donna Park, Personnel; and Ken Barker and Mal McCheney, Engineer.

A Better Chance

(Miriam Morales)

(Laura Espinoza, Sorya Mercado, Denise Dillard, Danita Benson, Denise Smith, Miriam Morales, Reva Hoosier, Andra Rivers)

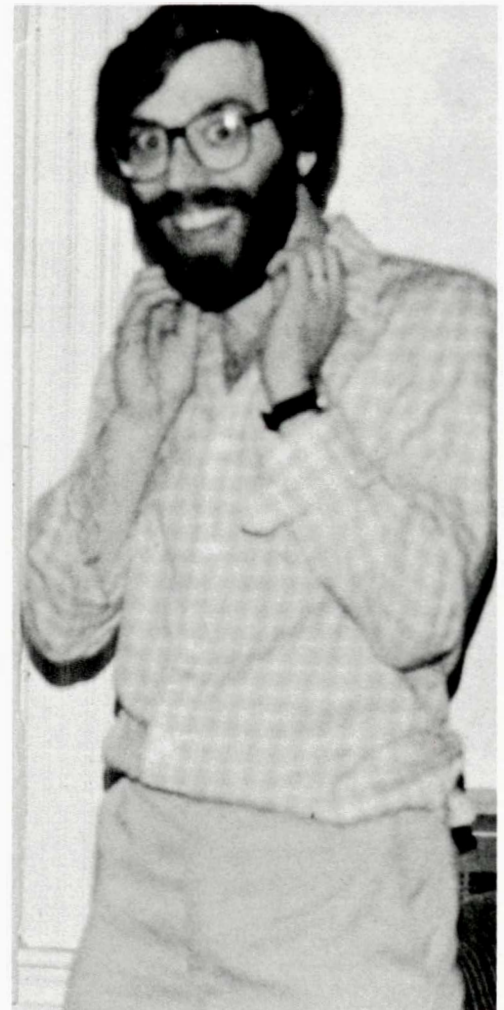

The ABC program provided teenagers with a chance to enhance their future by attending a college preparatory high school away from home. The Wellesley ABC program has been in existence for seven years. The eight ABC girls this year lived at 12 Norfolk Terrace in Wellesley.

Denise Dillard and Danita Benson are both seniors; Miriam Morales, Laura Espinoza and Andra Rivers are juniors; and Denise Smith, Reva Hoosier and Sorya Mercado are sophomores.

The ABC, a non-profit organization, hosted events such as bikethons and dances in order to raise money during the year.

Adventure Education

Adventure Education, recently introduced into the high school, enabled students to explore the outdoors and learn survival techniques. Initiated by gym teacher, Mike Mastro, the Adventure Education program was offered all year to sophomores, juniors, and seniors as a gym elective.

Students are encouraged to rely upon one another forming a group effort. Trust in fellow individuals is an essential component of Adventure Education. Maneuvering between trees on ropes held by other students is just one example of a trust-building exercise.

This program is designed to inspire group confidence and create a unified effort in outdoor exploration.

Academic Awards

On May 17, students who had achieved academic excellence in certain subjects were recognized for their outstanding efforts.

Awards were given in all subjects offered at the high school, in the fields of English, science, history, mathematics, language, business, home economics, industrial arts, art and music. In addition to these prizes honoring superlative achievement, scholarships were extended to deserving seniors possessing certain qualifications.

To list a few of the prestigious awards: the recipient of the Harvard Book was Ann Morganthaler, Jackie Davies received the Williams Book, Alison Coleman was awarded the Wheaton Book, and Avery Tung won the Cornell Engineering Award.

Nancy Hall accepts the Boston Real Estate Award.

Ethan Shimoni receives the Sebastian Santostefano History award from Mr. Marchant.

Bruce Tidor is recognized for his achievement in science as the recipient of the Bausch & Lomb science prize.

Soccer "Dodges" Opponents — Wins Title.

A CHAMPIONSHIP!! The season of 1978 was indeed a remarkable one for the Wellesley girls' soccer team. In their third year of varsity play, the Red Raiders captured the Bay State League title, finishing undefeated and untied in ten league games. In fact, Wellesley outscored league opponents 60-2. This included two games against archrival and old nemesis Needham, whom Wellesley dethroned as champion.

Emphasized on the field were short passing and ball control play, centering around a large corps of strong midfielders: senior, co-captain Stephanie Fernald, juniors Jenny Greeley, Beth Carrillo, Emily Boynton and Martha Murray, and sophomore, Alicia Carrillo.

Up front, the Raider attack was led by senior co-captain Pam Kuong and senior Debbie Strawbridge, juniors Eileen Neville and Sara Bierbaum, and sophomore Donna Bilbo. Standouts on defense were Nancy Goodman, Lynne Coyle, Laura Bothfeld, Evy Twitchell, and Ellen McHugh. Goalkeeper, with a remarkable goals-against average was Colette Twigg.

As winner of the Bay State League, Wellesley qualified for the state tournament and merited a bye for the preliminary round. In the quarter finals, Wellesley bested a very tough fast, Winchester team 2-1. But the route to state honors ended with the semi-finals in Franklin, against Medfield. Medfield goalie, Julie Brand turned aside 36 Raider shots, as Wellesley dominated but lost in overtime.

Overall, the Raider girls finished with their best record to date, 14-2-0. With only six seniors on the squad, the 1979 team looks forward to further success in the ensuing seasons.

Coach St. Cyr

Cross Country Team Surpasses Expectations

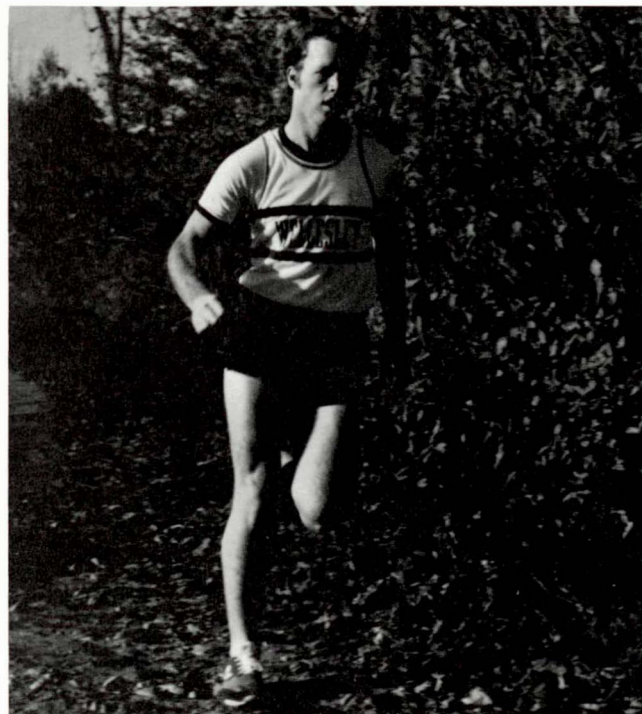

In a rebuilding year the Red Raider long distance runners kept Wellesley's tradition alive, while capturing third place in the Bay State league.

Under the direction of Coach St. Cyr and donated assistance from an outstanding distance runner and W.H.S. graduate, Richard Benner, the team worked out every day, regardless of weather conditions.

While the team had no one star, senior tri-captains Peter Foley, Tim Morrison, and Paul Sackley along with Tom Murphy and rookie Bob Carvalho took turns finishing first. Tough contenders Tom Tuytschaevers, Chris Oldcorn, Eric Kehoe and Pat Sheridan also proved themselves throughout the season. With the return of five varsity runners, next year's team should be able to uphold Wellesley's long distance running tradition.

"Heads Up Hockey!"

The 1979 Varsity Field Hockey team lifted many heads this season. It wasn't the 9-3-2 record or the perennial reputation as a top of the league contender, but rather the display of actual athletic talent. Spectators and competitors alike acknowledged strengths in stickwork, teamwork, execution and knowledge of the game. What else could you expect from thirteen seniors, and four juniors, most of whom had played together for four years?

Consistency proved to be the major problem through the season. The squad would crush a strong team, yet come up short against a weak one. The State Tourney matched the raiders against last years state champs, Weston. Dominating most of the play, Wellesley battled Weston heroically down to the last five minutes when a penalty stroke awarded to Weston stopped the Raider. In a well played game, in which the win could have gone either way, the score was Weston 3, Wellesley 2.

The perceptive and supportive coaching of Chris Burns took a group of talented individuals and formed a close-knit unit. With her help the season was a positive and valuable experience. It was a season characterized by hard work, improvement, rewarding games, and enjoyment.

Soccer — A Season of Ins and Outs

This year the Wellesley High School Soccer team experienced a split season. The first half of the Red Raider's schedule proved successful as they coasted to a 7-0-2 record. Yet, during the second half, they fell into a slump, winning only four of the remaining nine games. This left Wellesley out of the state tournament for the first time since 1971.

Co-captain John Levey sparked the offense, scoring many key goals, while the rest of the offensive fire brigade, including seniors, Dave West, Phil Hernberg, Steve O'Leary, with junior Alan Cathcart and Brent Miklavic provided the needed power. The defense was anchored again this year by the strong, consistent play of co-captain and goalie, Keith Greenfield. Adding to this solid playing were seniors Adam Sutton, Alex Moss, Doug Morrison, Kirk Miklavic, and juniors Andy Bonzagni, Karl Abrahamson and Dave Burzillo.

Next year, with the return of the experienced junior players as well as the talent of sophomore Guido Verdelli, the squad is sure to reclaim a spot at the top of the Bay State League.

Volleyball Bumped, Set and Spiked Their Way to a Championship

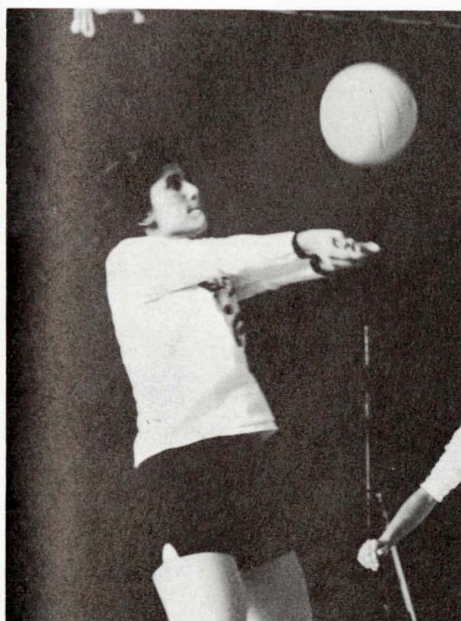

The Wellesley Girls' Volleyball Team became notorious in their league this season. A reputation for hard-driving serves and spikes, superb sets and consistent defensive play followed them throughout the Bay State League. A record of 14-0 put them in the best possible position — First.

The starting Varsity squad was composed of veteran players. Captain and All-Star

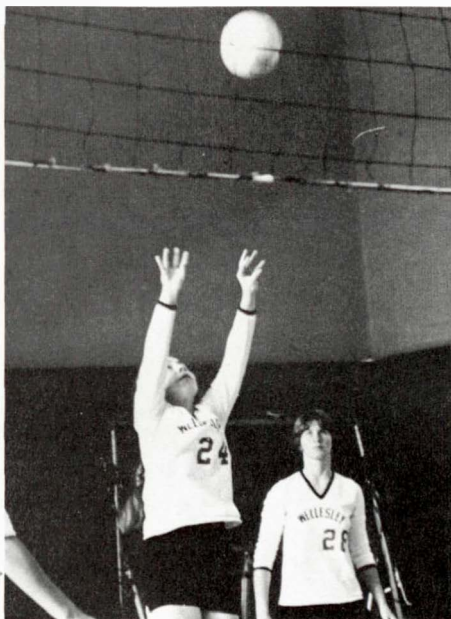

Mary Kay Browne along with Missy Cleveland placed the sets in a perfect position to be pummeled by the awesome spikers, Sue Carey and Barb Browne. Georgiann Zaglakis and M.V.P. Laurie Linnell helped hold the team together with their excellent all-around play. Stalwarts of J.V. — Jackie Beckwith, Janice Cleveland, and Sue Sidd, worked their way up to fill out the Varsity Squad.

Coached by Wendy Coleman this was a team to be remembered. Most of the upcoming team will be experiencing Varsity play for the first time. This fact aside, Wellesley has been Bay State League Champion for three out of four years of play, and the future looks bright.

Red Raiders Made Waves

The Raider Tide has taken a turn for the better, as a result of the fine coaching, dedication, and hard work displayed by the 1978 varsity football team.

Wellesley was rewarded for its efforts in defeating the Needham Rockets 16-0 on Thanksgiving Day, finishing the '78 campaign with a 6-4-0 record. This win total bettered that of the '75, '76, and '77 seasons combined.

A major force behind the Wellesley squad was its strong defense, led by tri-captain Nick Carrazza, tri-captain Bob Montalto, and Bay State League All-Star junior tackle Bruno Perdoni. Adding to the defensive blockade were John McDonald, Chuck Doherty, Paul O'Glischen, Scott Tavis, Dave Watkins, and Chris Wales.

But the talent was not centered solely around the defense. The offense paced by backs Chris Thomajan, tri-captain Mike Thorn, David Paltrineri, and Chris Gibson racked up over 200 yards in seven of ten games. Offensive ends Mark Tucker and Peter Mackie were stalwarts for the Raiders, as were linemen Mark Giglio, and Aaron Singer.

The Raiders had something to prove this year. With their talent Wellesley showed that they could surpass the 500 mark.

Spirit of '79

The 1978 Varsity Cheerleading Squad inspired a winning spirit among Wellesley interscholastic teams. Led by co-captains Robin Grant and Carrie Larocca, the girls participated in rallies, fund raisers, and parades.

The winter crew captained by Patty Neville proved to be equally exciting, cheering for Varsity Hockey and Basketball. They were involved in the annual Gym Show and the Bay State League Cheerleading Competition in February.

Led by Cathy Gagnon, the Twirler added enthusiasm at the games. The girls were invaluable at the rallies and other fall activities.

3-3-0 Season Suits Girls' Swim Team

Coach Reuland, Assistant Coach Barb Wright, and Tri-Captains Wendy McGrane, Lynne Wahlquist and Jeanne Bryson led this season's Girls' Swim Team through an enjoyable season. The squad captured fourth place in the Bay-State League, with a respectable 3-3-0 record. The girls assembled the right combination of hard work, talent and spirit.

Outstanding times were compiled by Juniors Julie Schell, Caroline Kenney, and Andy Sutton, along with super Sophomores Mary Stuart, Liz Rippy, and Paula Aylward. The season had its disappointments, but this did not hinder the spirit and enthusiasm displayed by the team.

Raider Swimmers Pool Strengths — Claim BSL Title

"We're Number One!" was the chant that could be heard loudly and clearly as the Wellesley Boys' Varsity Swim Team defeated Needham, thus climaxing their third Bay State League championship in four years. It marked a finale to a thrilling, emotion-filled season.

Under the guidance of coach Ed Touhey and tri-captains Adam Sutton, Rob Carolan, and John Levey, the team ended their season with a record of 9-0. Junior, Hunter Adams established a new record for the 100 yard backstroke, at 59.4 seconds, the first Wellesley schoolboy to cover that distance in less than a minute.

Other members who were strong competitors were Richard Morel, Craig Charlton, Craig Van Roekins, and Bruce Von Rosenvinge.

"Matters Matter!"

The Wellesley Red Raider Wrestling Team, led by Coaches Paul Donovan and James Knott and Tri-Captains Bob Montalto, Mike Thorn, and Chuck Doherty fought their way to an impressive 18-1 dual meet season. Although the Bay State League title was lost to Dedham, Wellesley came back to capture the Division 1 Central Sectional Tournament. The Red Raiders established a new state record for the most points scored in a sectional tournament by a Division 1 school.

Wrestlers Chuck Doherty, Doug Morrison, Jeff Knott, Walter Lee, Bob Montalto, Steve Montalto, Mike Thorn, and Bruno Perdoni went to the State Tournament at Chelmsford where Wellesley finished fourth. Mike Thorn was forced to default due to an injury; still, he captured sixth place. Bob Montalto and Jeff Knott placed second in the state, and Bruno Perdoni was state champion. A week later Bruno also became the New England Champion, travelling to Nashua, New Hampshire to win the Crown.

Girls' Basketball Lays Up Successful Season

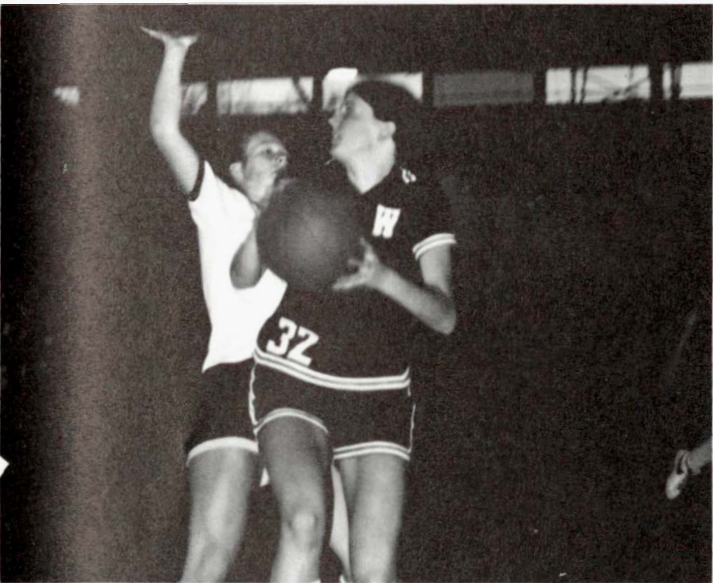

Our girls' basketball team had an outstanding season this year with a record of 16-3-0. The team finished second place in the Bay State League as a result of the quality coaching of Jo De Vincenzi and the fine leadership both on and off the court from tri-captains Pam Roberts, Elaine Picariello, and Sue Carey.

Junior Olympian Alison Fay led the team, as well as the league, in scoring with help from Pam Roberts, Sue Carey, Eileen Neville and Kim Walker. Ball handling skills were exhibited by Super Sophomore Donna Bibbo, Debbie Felix, Libby Wheatley and Martha Murray.

This year's unforgettable season was peppered and highlighted with broken records, broken noses, leaning towers, and singing telegrams; splinters and "suicides," bad jokes, good food, hard work and success.

Although the Girls' Gymnastics Team's victories were few, the girls' enthusiasm and hard work proved to be a valuable experience. First year coach Dena Wilkins made every effort to help the girls reach their goals, while co-captains Tracy McDonald and Susi Idzal helped to make the season a most enjoyable one. Many of the girls worked on more than one event. Tracy McDonald, Sue Bailey, Rosalyn Ingall, Nancy Staples and Caroline Tavis worked on floor routines and vaulting. Sue Bailey and Karen Sherrer worked on uneven parallel bars along with Susi Idzal and Sue Guigli, who worked on beam. Ellen Quinn was our all-around gymnast. Next year's team's promising. It will feature Juniors and Sophomores who are complete with grace and skill.

. and Boys Tumble Through Tough Season

The Boys' Gymnastics Team, while winning only two meets this season, has improved greatly and is the best team the school has produced in three years. Co-captain Dave Twyman competed as the all-around performer for the squad, qualifying for state competition. Promising Sophomore Vince LaVinga excelled in floor exercise and also vied for the state title.

Chuck Huang, Doug Bergstrom, and Peter Stern actively participated in floor exercise. Jeff Senger was the leading scorer on the pommel horse, and Seth Rubenstein and Rob Flores contributed points on the long horse vault. With the return of talented Sophomores and Juniors, next season's hopeful look optimistic.

Boys' Basketball Has High Hoops

Under the guidance of Head Coach Jim Sullivan and Assistant Coach John Fleming, the Boys' Basketball Team compiled a record of 11-9 to finish in a tie for fourth place in the Bay State League.

The team was led on the court by Mark Green and Peter Sheehan, this year's co-captains. Green scored 17 points per game and was Wellesley's leading rebounder who earned All-Star recognition for the second straight year. Peter Sheehan also gained All-Star status. "Boneman," as Sheehan is popularly known, contributed not only his high degree of talent, but also a great deal of hustle, spark, and desire.

Mark Tucker proved to be the Raider's best defensive player and with Brent Micklavic, ran the offense from the backcourt. Peter Mackie and Bob Dunlap split the center position and each made some key contributions.

Mike Buckley, Phil Hernberg, Jamie Roberts, Dave "Cy" Fay, and Timmy Smith came off the bench to add a new dimension to the Raider attack.

Skaters Attain Hard-Earned 7-9-3 Record

The Varsity Hockey Team, coached by Richard Heller, Josh Stiles, and captained by Seniors Tim Brown, T. J. Palmer and Tom Doherty, had hopes of posting a successful record this year. However, after jumping off to a 2-1-1 record, the team lost seven of their next eight games.

Hard work and unfaltering enthusiasm finally began to pay off. Led by quick-skating forward Gary Dufton, and the scoring of Seniors Tim Brown, John McDermott, Tom Doherty, and Junior Jim King as well as the acrobatic goaltending of T. J. Palmer and Greg Ellms, the team began to climb up in the standings. Inspired by victories over Walpole and Braintree, the team surged to a 5-2-2 second half, climaxed with an exciting 3-2 victory over their arch-rival, Needham.

Much of the credit for the success must be given to the hard-nosed defensive corps of Dave Cunningham, Steve Hung, Keith Greenfield, Greg Cameron, the Anastos brothers, Peter and John, and the fine shorthanded work of Dave Fallon and Neil Murphy. The team will retain Junior Tim Vlass and sophomores Ed Vahey and Louie Sardina as the Red Raiders look forward to a strong, upcoming season.

Winter Sprinters Run for Fun

This year's Wellesley Indoor Track season couldn't be measured by the final record, at 0-8, but more by the dedication and togetherness exhibited by the team. Coached by the inexhaustible Neil Coleman, the squad braved the cold winter winds in getting in shape for some commendable performances. Peter Foley placed consistently well in the two-mile; John Williams did well in the mile; and Tom Murphy and Tom Tuytschaevers were strong contenders in the 1000 and 600 yard runs. In the sprints John McDonald, Dave Paltrineri, and Herbie Brown were constant threats. Rounding out the rest of Wellesley's competitive runners were Andy Black, Andy Waugh, Joel Beecher, Eddie Schultz, Andy von Praagh, Kirk Fisher, Ralph Casale, Jim Berry, Missy Cleveland and Meg Randall. The team wasn't out to win a championship. Instead they were working for better personal performances and they were running for fun.

Skiers Wait for Snow-to-Go!

In spite of several seances and snow dances led by Coach Gig Kerivan Jr. to end the snowless winter, both the Nordic and the Alpine ski teams finished the season on a downward slope. The uncooperative weather forced the team to hold three months of dry training that consisted of long distance running and weight lifting. Gig, as well as the co-captains Eric Kehoe and Jamie Maerder, managed to keep the team's spirit up.

Although the Nordic team was unable to compete, the dedicated skiers never gave up hope. The Slalom team was able to compete, with the points brought in by Eric Kehoe, Scott Hollinger, Maureen Kelly, Dale Morgenstein, Jamie Maerder and Sharon and Laura Kehoe. Given a chance to compete the Wellesley squad's superior conditioning would have surely resulted in a successful season.

Wins "Stop Short" for Red Raiders

The base covered this year by the Red Raider Baseball team were cooperation, good coaching, optimism, and sportsmanship. These attributes proved to be of more value than the 4-14 record. Members of the squad, whether on the bench, or in the field, continued to give support and words of encouragement to fellow players.

Standouts on the squad were junior pitcher, John Willard, senior catcher, John McDonald, and the flashy double play combination of senior Bobby Donovan and Jon Wiles in the infield.

In the outfield, junior Dave Paltrineri and the strong outfield arms of seniors Mark Tucker and Mike Thorn kept the defense tight.

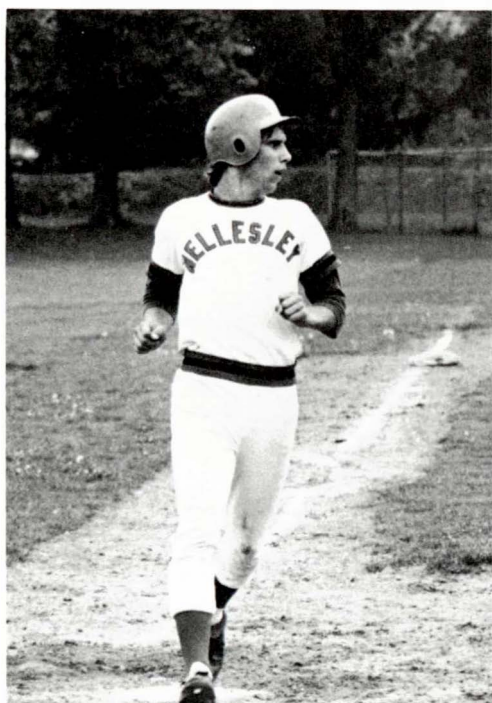

Though Wellesley hasn't worked up to contending caliber, the return of Paltrineri, Willard, and others show a promise of quality in next year's team.

Girls' Tennis Takes First

The Wellesley High School Girls' Tennis Team finished the 1979 season with a 16-2 record leaving them tied for first place in the competitive Bay State League.

The consistent wins of singles players: Jennifer O'Sullivan, Michelle Falvey, and Emily Boynton helped the team on to many victories.

The doubles teams consisted of Maureen Kelley and Virginia Claus at first doubles, and Devon Whitman and Robin Grant at second double. These four seniors had spectacular records and could always be counted on for a win to keep Wellesley in first place.

Lack of Depth Hinders Runners

The boys' track team was not characterized by their overall record which was 0-9, but by their individual performances. The team lacked depth, but Coach Coleman had much to be proud of: runners Peter Foley, Tom Murphy, Andy Black, Tom Tuytschaevers and Andy Von Praag, and field events Peter Morris, Eric Kehoe, Arthur Brown, and Aaron Singer excelled in their respective events.

Wellesley still hasn't managed to put together a winning combination, but with a more experienced crew returning next year, a victorious season seems hopeful.

Softball Works on New Talent

The Girls' Softball Team had a rough season on this year, finishing 1-17. There were four veterans on the team at the outset of the season, but injuries reduced this number to two. Forced to the bench with injuries, two experienced players, Pam Kuong and Elaine Picariello, offered unlimited support. Meanwhile on the field, Sue Carey and Eileen Neville showed determination and consistency in setting an example for the young team. With the help of tri-captains Sue Carey, Pam Kuong and Elaine Picariello, Miss DiVincenzi shaped the raw talent into a team to be reckoned with in the future.

Tennis Stars Shine

The boys' tennis team again, under the leadership of Coach Brooks Goddard, compiled a winning season. Led by Co-Captain Bruce Von Rosenvinge and Ted Simonides, the team placed third in the Bay State League, going 15-3. Bruce and Ted were undefeated in the league, going 17-0. In first doubles matches, they were the Eastern Mass. Double Champions and elected to the Boston Globe All-Scholastic Team.

Sophomore Joe O'Brien went 15-3 at first single, while junior Warren Avery went 16-2. At third singles Peter Gherardi and Todd Williamson together compiled an impressive 12-4 record. Rick Murray combined with both Todd and Dan McGreevy and achieved a record of 16-2.

With only three seniors graduating, next year's team will again vie for the title.

Girls' Track — Just One Step Behind

Like a marcher who is always just one step behind, the girls' track team kept the pace but remained just out of reach of a victory. They ended the season at 2-7, a record which did not do them justice. Coached by Don LaBorne, the girls missed winning four meets by five to ten points.

Providing the team with excitement during the season were tri-capt. Missy Cleveland in the two mile, tri-captain Tracy McDonald in the discus, Donna Bibbo in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, tri-captain Meg Randall in the high jump, Ann Capobianco in the 440, and Jennifer Clair in the two mile.

Underclassmen power was supplied by Martha Sheridan, Maryellen Gilfeather, Amy Lyndon, Brenda Capobianco, Kim Paul, Janice Cleveland, and others. With a strong core of runners returning, Wellesley should be getting into step and on the right track!

Co-Champs Chip Out Title

The Wellesley High School Golf team completed their season as the co-champions of the Bay State League, finishing with an 8-1 record. Although they tied Needham for the league championship, they bested Needham in the regular season match.

The team was led by Bay State League All-Star Sandy Sutherland and consistently backed by Doug Keefe, Steve Sexany, Scott Robelan, and Jeff Oteri. The alternate line-up consisted of Fran Swift, John Ennis and Gail Wahlquist. Outstanding performance should also be credited to three year veteran and captain Keith Greenfield.

The scenic setting along the Charles River and the superb weather were among the highlights of 1979 sailing season. The crew was part of the Greater Boston Sailing League and participated in ten races.

With no seniors on the team, the talent on the squad was centered among the juniors and sophomores. Representatives of the Class of 1980 were Jon Bentley, John Drum, Ed Keenan, Lorelei Kettendorf, Martha Kruse, Mike Mahoney and Fred York. The up-and-coming talent was provided by sophomores Meg Dunham, Anne Gerald, Nathalie Kettendorf, Lisette Schnelle, Bow Van Riper, and Stanley Wisniewski. Coach Bevilaqua remained optimistic during the season, and his outlook for next year is promising.

... to the Winners' Circle — The Athletic Awards —

Athletic performance is of itself a reward in individualism, confidence, and cooperation for the athlete. This performance can be rewarded also through support shown by the presentation of awards. Athletes are most often seen in competition, yet it is also necessary to give them the recognition they deserve on stage. We honor our Wellesley athletes as they move from the fields to the winners' circle.

Letters are awarded to all varsity athletes.

The Wellesleyan

The scene: Wellesley Senior High. The time: September, 1978. The perspiring faces and the quickening pulses were evident as the yearbook members filed into the room. Why the tension? Why the melodrama? Why this ridiculous copy? This was the day the staff had to make that fateful decision on the THEME. As one glanced around the room, he saw apprehensive looks on each of the faces. The apprehension soon left as ideas began to flow in. After the rainbow suggestion was tossed around the majority decided it was a great idea. With Janice Barrett and Pat Rosenfield advising us and Beth O'Hara and Peter Gherardi named as Co-Editors-in-Chief with Linda Berkman as Assistant Editor-in-Chief, the entire staff worked hard to make this book a great success.

The Bradford

Finishing the year as editors, Meg Bryant, Isabel Neuringer, and Louise Brewster kept The Bradford a high quality and informative newspaper. Under the supervision of Jack Rutledge, it won first place from Boston University for excellence in editing. This year's Bradford had shifted its emphasis. Usually very oriented towards sports, it became more involved in reporting news of interest to a wider variety of the student body, such as artists and musicians.

Incoming editors, Janice Cleveland and Jacqueline Davies, along with a staff generally consisting of thirty active members, upheld the standards of the Bradford in reporting both school and other current events. The Bradford offers students an opportunity to learn about the many facets of journalism, from the reporting to the intricacies of layout. The Bradford serves a dual purpose, that of reporting and of teaching.

Student Advisory Committee

Seniors Rob Quinan and Debbie Felix, Junior Debbie Lovett and Sophomore Tony Kingsley, were the four high school students elected to serve on the Student Advisory Committee to the School Committee. This year, the group's emphasis was focused around the issue regarding reduction in faculty.

Regional Student Advisory Council

The Regional Student Advisory Council members had the opportunity to counsel the State Board of Education and the Department of Education concerning common needs of the student body. Delegates Bruce Tidor and Sarah Gibbon attended regular meetings held in Boston.

Student Government

Student Government is a political organization designed to give students the opportunity to voice their concerns and act on various issues in the high school community. This year Student Government sponsored the second annual Student Caucus in which students proposed various improvements for the school. Followup on these proposals involved the administration.

Activities midway offered students a chance to explore the activities and functions of the many clubs and organizations in the high school. Students examined special interests during the Student Government sponsored seminars. Student members played the part of informer/representative to the teachers and students.

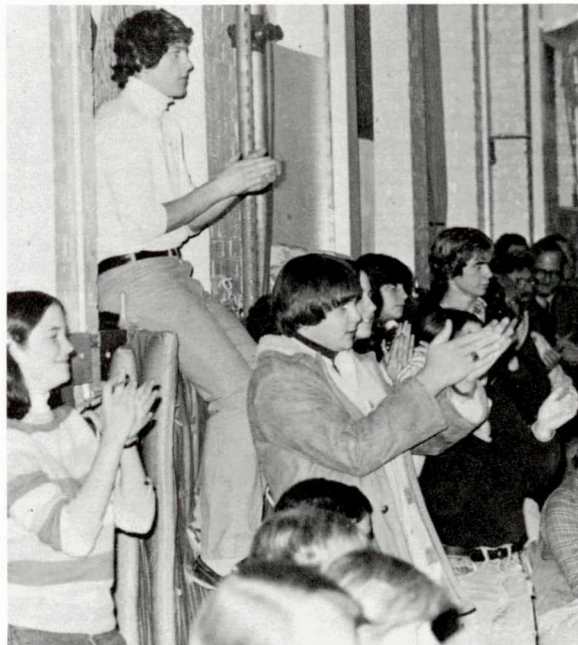

It was a productive year for the Student Government.

French Club, Latin Club, Spanish Club

The French Club enjoyed another year of cultural and entertaining activities. With Karen Morris as the advisor, the club engaged in such events as French dinners, and parties, and to add a bit of culture they learned various French games.

The Spanish Club participated in many activities which included dinner at a Mexican Restaurant, trips to museums, and viewing Spanish Movies. The club also sponsored several "fiestas." The highlight of the year was the total immersion program held at Cape Cod, which required speaking only Spanish for two and a half days.

The Junior Classical League enjoyed another year of recreational and classical activities. The traditional Spanish Club-AFS-Latin Club volleyball tournament attracted many enthusiastic and skillful players. During the holiday season, members attended the Christmas Carol Service at Brown University and held their annual Latin Caroling Party for Senior Citizens. Visits to other schools for dramatic, scholastic and athletic activities were included in the club's schedule.

American Field Service

The American Field Service sponsors student trips abroad and also arranges exchanges within the United States for AFS clubs. The Wellesley students visited Hickory High School in North Carolina from March 30 until April 5. Much of this time was spent observing school classes, club meetings, and attending social events, including beach parties and barbeques.

This short term exchange helped students to learn social customs, history, and to meet new people.

Exchange Groups

During the past school year there were two exchange programs offered to the student. Ten Spanish students had the opportunity to visit the South American country of Venezuela, while fourteen French speaking students visited Martinique.

The purpose of the exchanges was to allow students to become acquainted with the language and culture of a different country.

National Honor Society

This year the National Honor Society was very active and productive working with dedication on two major projects. First, their tutoring service continued to help students who needed some personal instruction in a subject. Second, a scholarship fund was established to give assistance to college-bound Wellesley High Seniors. These projects involved a great deal of work, and they proved educational and worthwhile for all who participated.

Key Club

Under the guidance of advisor Jeannie Goddard, the Key Club completed another successful year of service to the student body and the Wellesley community.

Members of the Key Club participated in such projects as transporting the elderly to the Veterans Day parade, Bloodmobiles, concessions, and auctions. Earnings from these and other activities went to charity.

The Dana Hall tutoring program was in full swing, as the Key Club once again managed to have a "good time" in fulfilling their goal.

The Outing Club

The Outing Club provided its members with many enjoyable trips and memories. Each member learned to have a greater appreciation of the outdoors. In the fall, the group tented out for three days in Zealand Falls, NH. The highlight of the year was a spring trip to Mt. Katahdin in Maine where students endured the sub-zero temperatures and were rewarded by the magnificent scenery and the unrestricted peace of the outdoors.

Bands

Although their cheerleading wasn't exactly up to par — they out-did themselves in arousing school spirit with well-performed music. Along with the marching band, the flag girls added to half time entertainment. Director Bob Davis and Drum Major Doug Kangos led the band to a more memorable season.

Music Groups

The musical success this year was credited to the outstanding efforts of the Wellesley High School singing groups. Under the excellent leadership of Mr. Sullivan, the many groups practiced daily to improve their fine musical ability. Their talent was displayed by performing in concerts and recitals. So, watch out Donny and Marie . . . here they come.

Fine Arts Magazine

The Fine Arts Staff, co-edited by Marge Albrecht and Mona Hosbjor, again compiled an assortment of fine poetry and creative art. Advisors Joan Lanza, Miriam Stoddard and Pat Rosenfield devoted much time and effort and were a keystone in the success of the publication. Making her mark, Mona Hosbjor contributed immensely with her flair and style.

The Moving Company

"Sitting on the corner, watching all the boys go by." (The Moving Company)

The Moving Company is one of Wellesley High's newest groups. It was formed in 1978 by Francie Joseph. The members along with Francie choreograph dances and perform them. They had several concerts and have visited other schools as well.

Drama Club

The 1978-1979 Drama Club began in October with six performances of Jean Claude van Itallies' "Interview," followed by "Old Times" by Harold Pinter presented by the Actors' workshop. The final production of the year consisted of three one-act plays directed by W.H.S. students.

The Debate Team

The Wellesley High School Debate Team had a successful year, building from only two experienced debaters. Under the leadership of officers Mike Mahoney, Ted Keenan and Michele Woods, and with guidance from Coach Jack Hart, the team excelled in debate tournaments. The season was spent researching the National topic of Energy Independence and attending tournaments in New England where Wellesley debated against many area schools. The climax of the team's activities was the tournament hosted by Wellesley at the end of the year. Several debaters had an exceptional year: one was Mahoney who won quite a few special awards and trophies, and another was Betsy Reed, a freshman who also took several awards for Wellesley. The overall winning season was a credit to the tremendous effort the members put into the Debate Team.

Computer Club

The Computer Club is a new organization at Wellesley High this year. Computers are a hobby of all members of the club, and this hobby is gaining popularity as small computers come down in price.

Through the club, the members will be able to advance in computer knowledge and proficiency. Also, the club hopes to cooperate with teachers and school officials in widening the scope of interest in computers throughout the school.

Chess Club

The Wellesley High School Chess Club participates in inter-scholastic and intrascholastic chess competition. The Chess Club competes in the Central Mass. and Middlesex Chess League, which consists of 28 schools in eastern and central Mass. Individual members of the Chess Club also play in many chess tournaments. The highlight of the chess season was when the club tied Waltham High School, the previously undefeated and untied Central Mass. and Middlesex League Champions. The 1978-79 Chess Club members are Gindy Kaplan (President), John Lockhart (Vice-President), Ted Ross, Clark Himmelberger, David McKee, Keith Noyes, John Porter, and George Callas.

Bottle Club

Ken Johns has an extensive collection of antique bottles. He also has a legal license as a bottle dealer which enables him to buy and sell bottles at dealer prices.

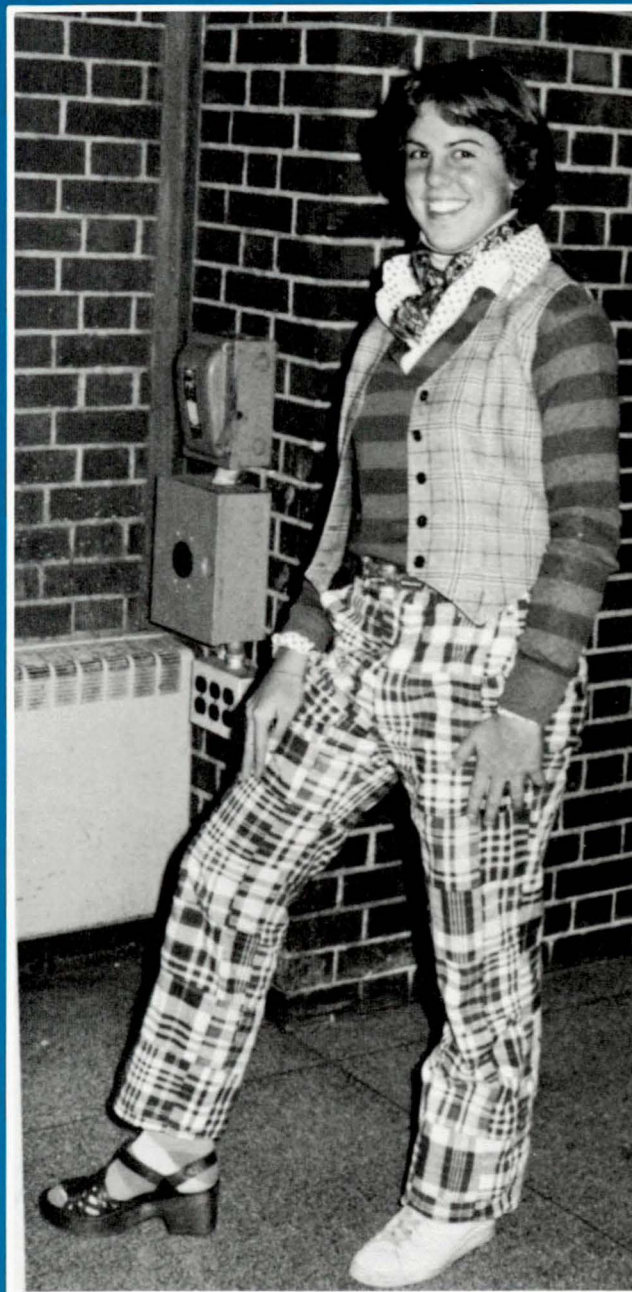

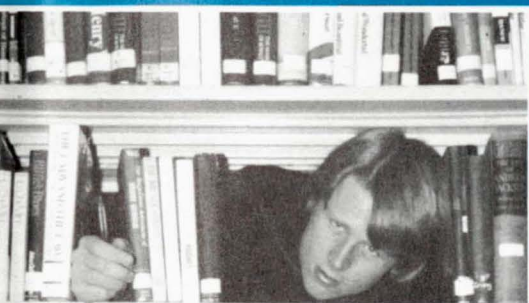

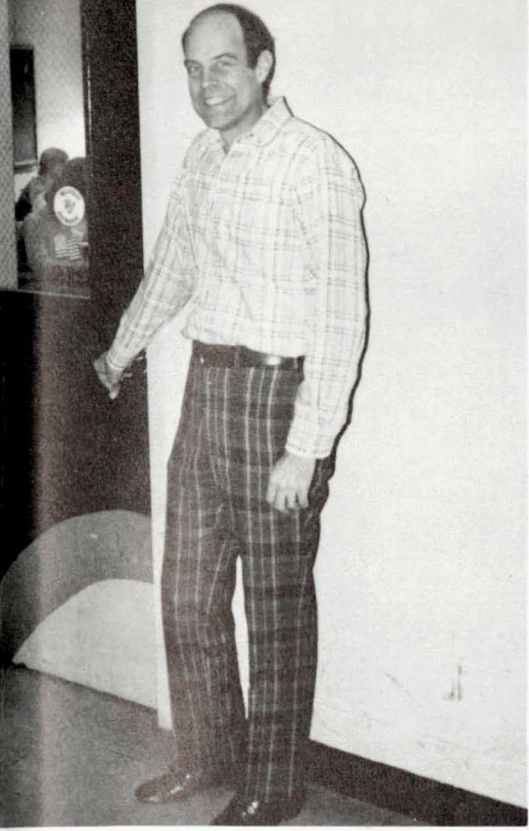

Ken has bottles of all sizes, shapes, colors, and descriptions. His hobby allows him to save "time in a bottle."

SIMON SAYS . . . "Break-a-leg" (The Interview cast)

Acting takes "Sheer Energy" (Amy Goganian, Felicia Coffey, Dennis McCormick)

The Drama Club's presentation of "Interview" was made successful by the vivacious and innovative acting of the cast. Jean Claude van Itallie's "Interview" is a classic in the theatre of the absurd. The members of the cast were: Dean Mitchell, Diana Sherwood, Doug Bergstrom, Tina Johnson, Laura Last, Maureen Murphy, Lisa Tofias, Margie Reich, Melissa Peltier, Laura Koeneman, Doug Kangos and Laurie Sheffield.

Also pictured above are Amy Goganian, Felicia Coffey and Mr. Dennis McCormick in the one act play, "Old Times." Mr. McCormick of the English Department was a drama club first-nighter. He is the Star of our faculty drama performers. BRAVO!

Early Graduation Meant Hard Work and a Long Vacation

On Friday morning, February 2, Wellesley Senior High School said good-bye to fifteen of its seniors.

The following were presented with certificates of graduation by Mr. Carbone and Mrs. O'Leary, chairperson of the school committee: Rebecca Black, Michael Bodden, Cheryl Case, Kim Chichetto, Edward Cavey, Laura Linnell, Michael McDonald, Paula McKoy, Christy Mitchell, Gail Mosteretz, Kathy Offenhartz, Frances O'Shea, Karen Rosengard, Donna Sheehy, and George Willard.

"Thanks Steve, just what I needed." (Steve Hung, Diane Furdon)

1979 Gym Show

The 1979 Gym Show continued the tradition of excellence. Under the direction of Mr. Hines, Chris Burns and Will St. Cyr, students found previously undiscovered talents and faced the spotlights.

The "Frogs" once again returned to the tune of "Jeremiah was a Bull Frog" after missing the 1978 show.

The girls' teams were recognized, capturing the Dalton Award for all-around performance. The triple balance feats were perfected to the "T" as were the individual events, the pyramids, and the tableaux.

Once again this fund raising event for athletics was immensely appreciated.

It's all in the toenails. (Suzi Idzal)

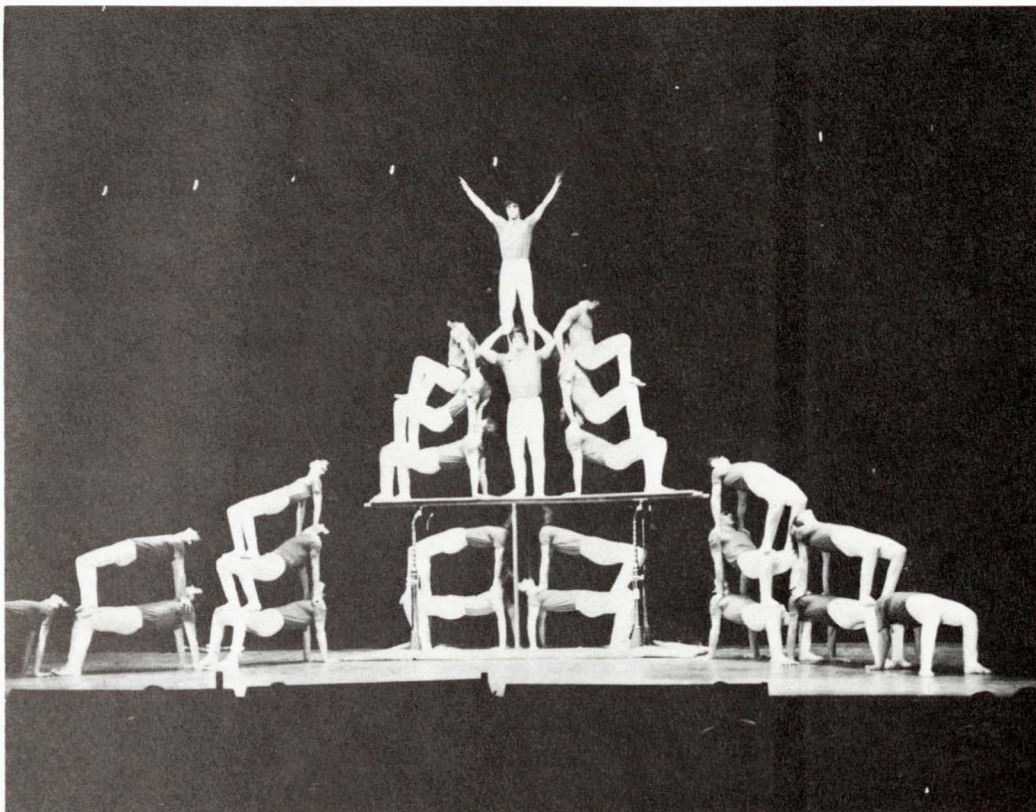

"Please draw the curtain, I have an itch on my nose." (Michelle Falvey, Pam Kuong, Jamie Maeder, Ellen Quinn, Tracey McDonald, Janice Cleveland, Elaine Picariello, Alison Thorne)

T-shirt Day

T-shirt day was not only a yearbook activity but it was also a reflection of the times.

T-shirts gave us an opportunity to flaunt our personalities on our backs and allowed us to reveal our sense of humor. May T-shirts and jeans live forever.

Senior Month

The Traditional Senior Month activities unified the Senior Class in a way that no other activity could. There was a certain kindred spirit created while participating in gang-squirt-gun wars, hall jams, picnics and beach days. Senior Month activities is the way many of us will remember our Senior year — may those memories never perish.

Hold the applause (Ellen Moore)

The 1979 Variety Show was a smorgasbord of talent. Under the artful directorship of Lloyd Henley, the acts were well organized, amusing and entertaining. The perennial calendar girls were as wacky as ever; a madcap troupe of pie throwers kept the audience laughing and a myriad of dancers, singers and comedians rounded out the show.

Sponsored by the Student Government, this function gave WHS a chance to show off its hidden talents. So look closely at these two pages, someday you may see one of these names in lights!

Goodbye to the Seventies

We leave Wellesley High as the last class to graduate in this decade. When reflecting upon the 70's certain occurrences flash to mind: the lengthening of garments from hot pants and mini skirt to the covering of the modest knecap, the blossoming of the "fast food" generation while the quarter-pounder remains a quarter of a pound but doubles in price, and the shattering of the American Dream with the reality of Watergate.

After graduation — our commencement — we should look back and recognize the factors that have shaped us before we forge ahead to shape the eighties.

"Hail to thee, our Alma Mater."

"Let me make one thing perfectly clear." (Ted Simonides)

"... the best designers, heaven knows, Halston, Pucci..." (Diane Pierce)

"At the dawning of my life..." (Mr. Tim Connors, Margaret Holtje)

Prices we'll tell our kids about.

Heading for the open road

Wanted: Class of 1979

Ringleaders: Hari Close, Mary Kay Browne, Pam Christlieb, Julie Keating and their accomplice, Mr. Murphy.

For: They lured defenseless children to a Halloween party and then, dressed like lunatics, they gathered in the dark of the night for their own Halloween celebration. The Homecoming and lead-off dances were also their work. On Senior Clash Day, they were seen in some of the most garish clothes ever to hit Wellesley. Showing no mercy, they allowed their football team to thoroughly trounce Needham in the turkey day game. Just when it was thought that they were settling down, they put the school on ice with a skating party.

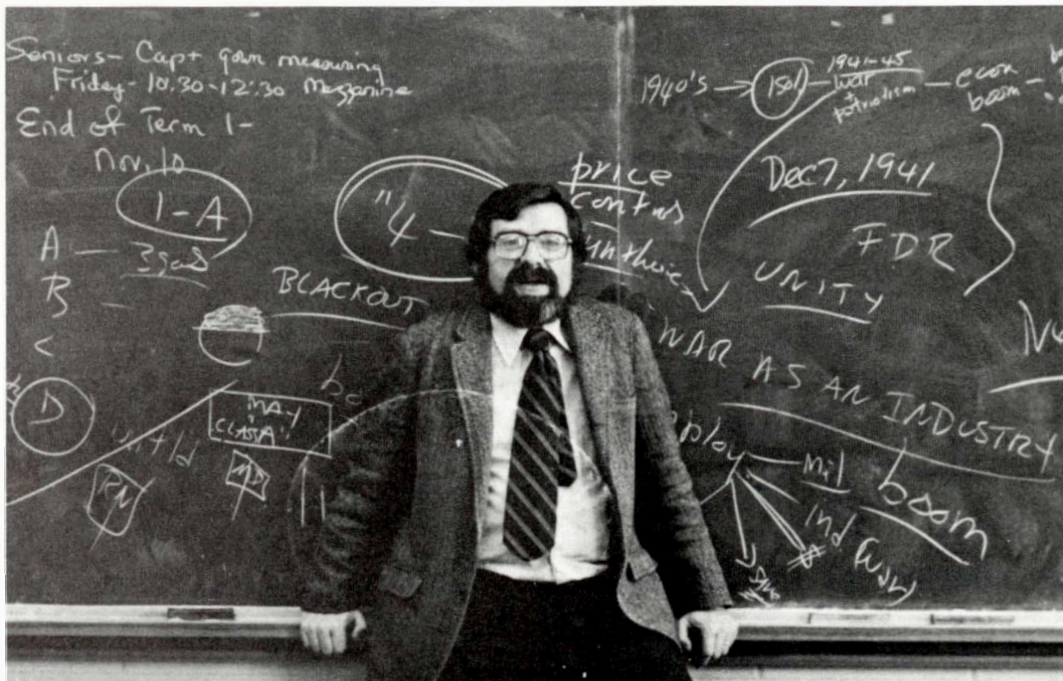

In order to better flaunt their status, they started wearing senior shirts and the authorities even have them on film parading around in togas. The warm weather apparently made them more active for they then staged a Club 79 dinner. Skipping school for a day of carousing, they got themselves psyched for the senior banquet and the prom. After graduating, they partied for a whole night. Generally, they were an active and spirited group.

Last seen, they were heading off to college, to work, or to travel.

If not apprehended, watch out world for they have got plans.

The following pages contain pictures of these individuals. If you see one, congratulate him or her for being a member of one of the best classes of Wellesley High.

Hey, Look Mom, I'm a Senior!!

"Send those Sophomores out for gin and don't let a sober Senior in!"

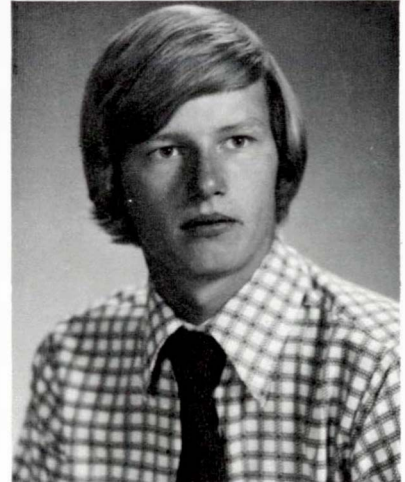

Country roads take me home to the place I belong .
(Thomas Morgan)

And so I says to myself "Self . . ." (Pam Kuong)

Mike did double time; graduated from WHS and U.S. Marine Boot Camp (PFC Michael T. McDonald, Mrs. McDonald, and 1st Lt. Merriman)

Late, but never forgotten (Richard Gildawic)

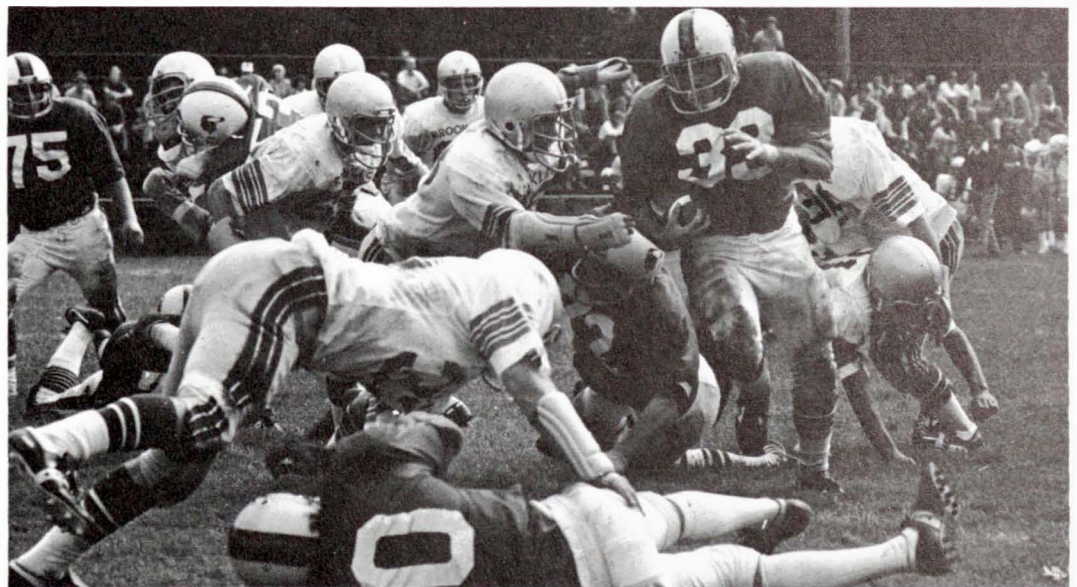

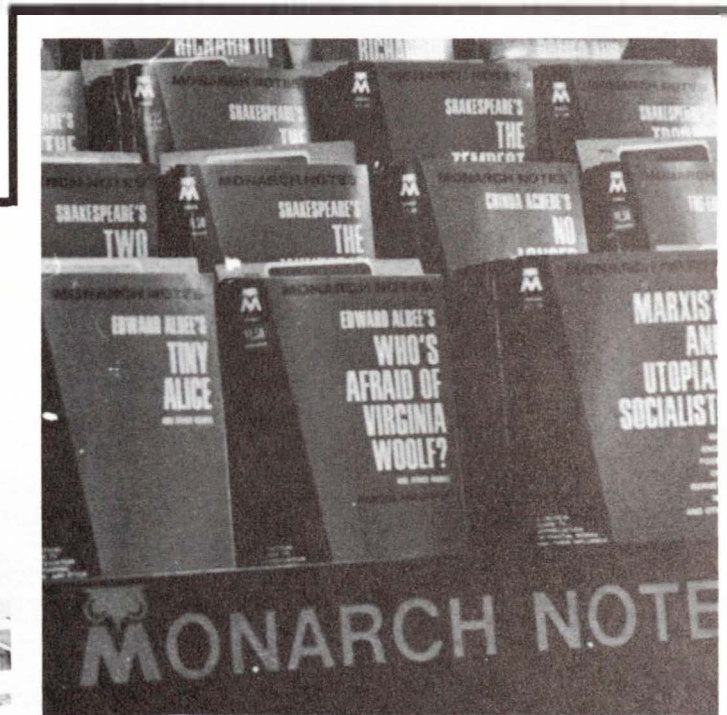

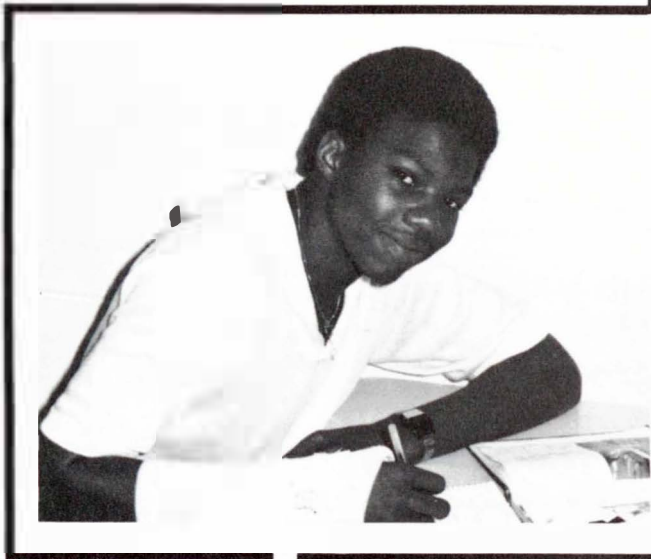

Spring is so much sweeter when you are a senior. (Tracy Mac Donald)

UNDERCLASSMEN

Juniors: Donuts Kept Them Rolling in Dough

Treasurer Tom Tuyschaeyers, Vice President Sue Quirk, Class Advisor Mr. Haggerty, President Jackie Corcoran, Secretary Connie Carens.

Being a Junior is all it's "cranked up" to be. The hard academic dedication needed to set the foundation for success is never more obvious than Junior year. Despite the responsibilities, however, the Junior Class led by President Jackie Corcoran, Vice President Sue Quirk, Secretary Connie Carens, and Treasurer Tom Tuyschaeyers experienced great success in their fund-raising and social activities; such as Ice Cream Day, Donut Day, and Carnation Day.

The traditional and popular Ski Trip to Baker Brook Lodge was held January 5, 6, 7 at Cannes Mountain, N.H. The spring activity was the Annual Class Trip to Paragon Park. All-in-all, the industrious Juniors were a well-balanced group who were able to break the monotony of the harsh New England winter and the demands of studying and with the help of Mr. Peter Haggerty, the Class Advisor, to socialize, relax and enjoy their year.

Sophomores: The Young and the Restless

The Sophomore Class, a spirited group, headed by President Nancy Hoffman, Vice President Amy Aronson, Secretary Julie Hung, Treasurer Lynn Doherty, and of course Class Advisor Dr. Cave, began their fundraising projects with a successful Carwash, a Bake Sale, and a concert by Hunter Moore. Other projects, equally productive were: Carnation Day, Spring Flea Market, Class Picnic, Children's Fair, and a Stationery Sale. A welcomed addition to the high school, the Sophomore Class continues to uphold the high school tradition of active, committed, students as exemplified in the Sophomore Service month.

Club '79: Stairway

Many months of hard work by a group of dedicated students made the night of Club '79 a triumph. The theme of "Stairway to Heaven" was cleverly executed and enjoyed by all who attended. A myriad of stars were hung from the cafeteria ceiling, angels adorned the tables and there were even pearly gates to meet us at the top of the stair! Entertainment consisted of student singing group and dancing to the music of deejay Chuck Burgess. Mr. Murphy made the first of his many appearances where he would receive standing ovations. All who worked to make Club '79 a great success were thoroughly satisfied by the smiles of heartwarming appreciation which appeared on all faces.

"I think I lost my voice girls." (Julie Keating, Pam Christlieb, Mr. Murphy)

The hardest workers of them all. (Laura Linnell, Mary Kay Browne)

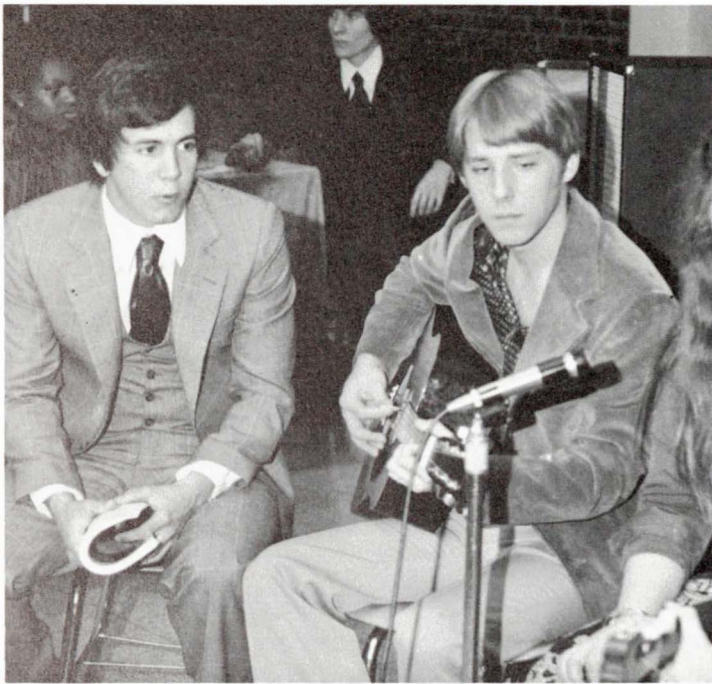

The faculty also took an active part in Club '79.

Stars in their eyes.

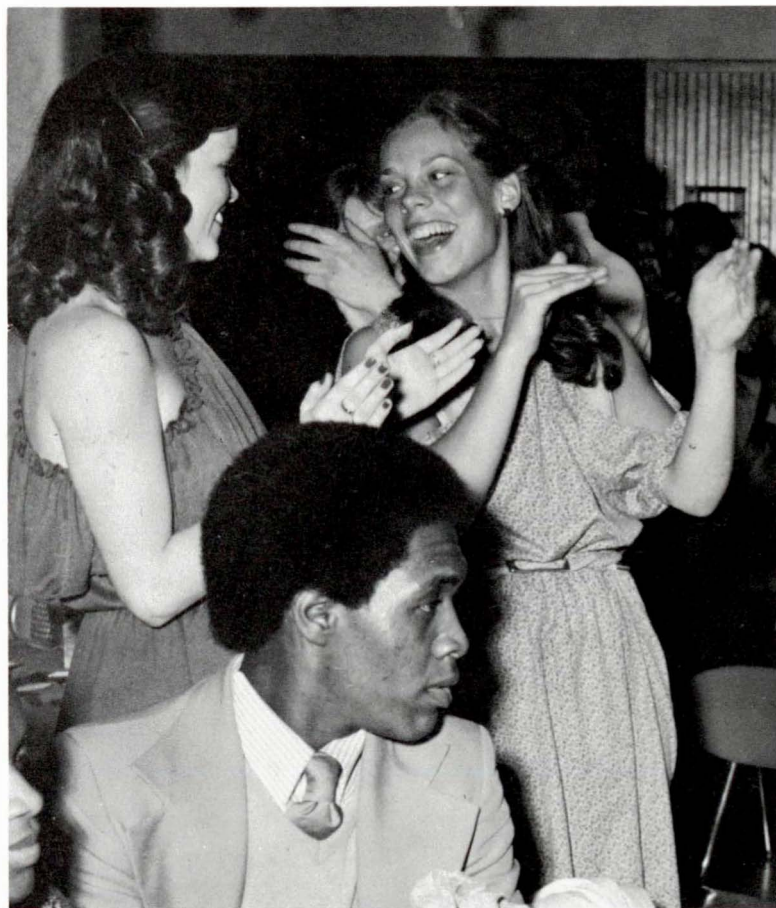

A little dinner music (Adam Sutton, Mark Lamothe)

"Hail, hail, the gang's all here"

Enjoying the after dinner entertainment (Donna Sullivan, Robin Grant, Mike Woodson)

At least the waitresses were smiling

Heavenly notes. (Louise Brewster, Deidre Shaw)

A Night on the Town

The Class of '79 really spent a "night on the town" when they attended the Senior Prom under the Great Dome at Faneuil Hall Marketplace. After dinners at some of Boston's finest restaurants or dinner parties in Wellesley, it was off for an evening of dancing and excitement. Music provided by the Graham Cole Band filtered out past the dance floor and into the Great Hall where students were free to wander and enjoy the evening. This unique location for our Prom may be fast becoming a tradition in Wellesley.

Paul Kennedy, Frances O'Shea

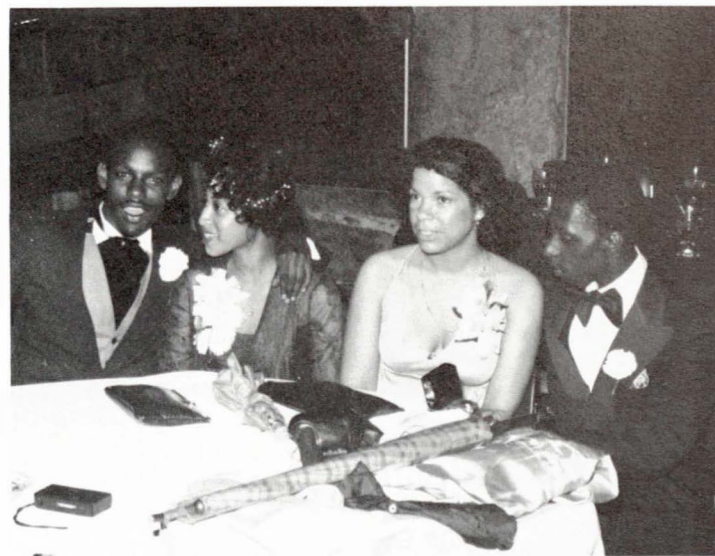

The prom was great from rain 'til morning shine.

"It was absolutely wild," right John? (Kristin Gulbrandsen, John Morgan)

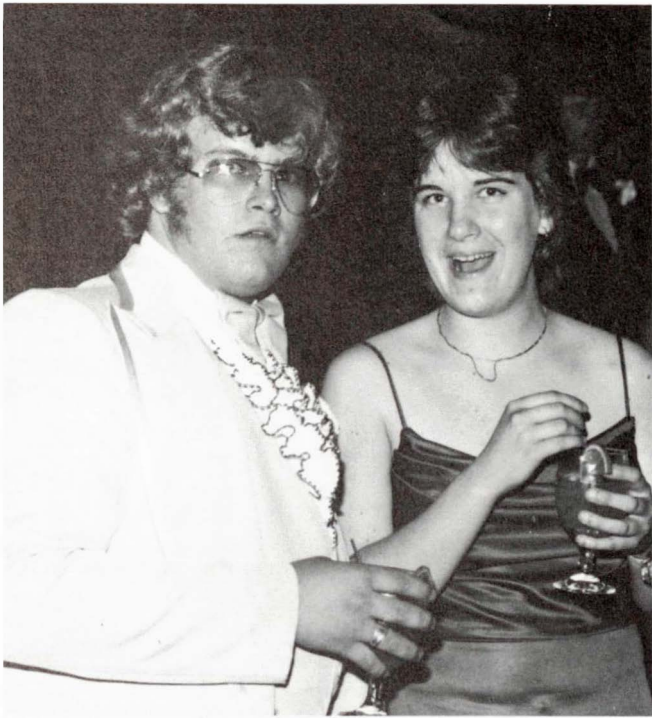

Light-footed Lloyd loved to lead. (Lloyd Litt, Jennifer Cabaniss)

Just had to sit this one out.

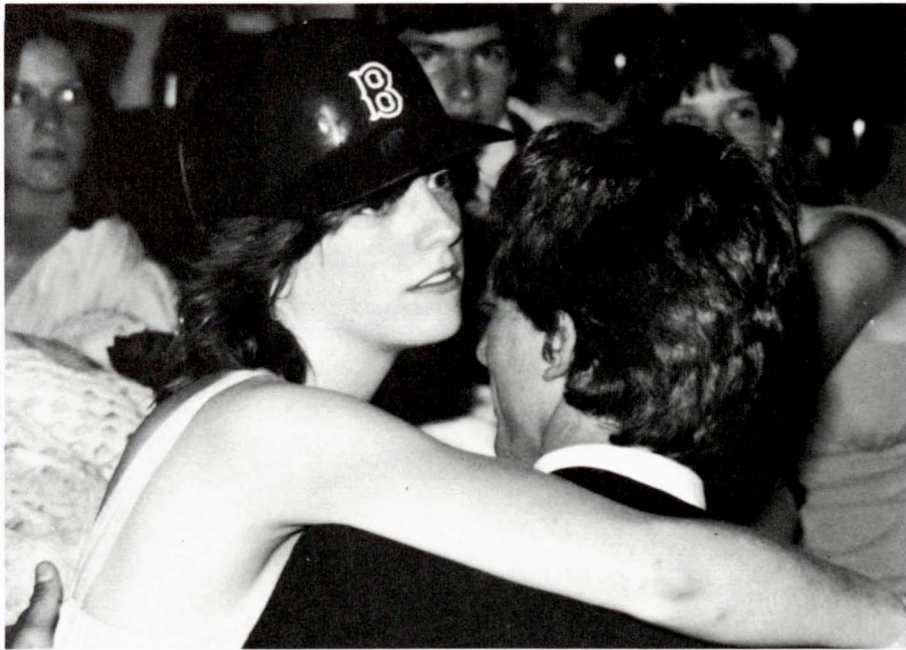

We're stirring the drinks but we'd rather be "mixin'" (Barry Spencer, Carol Oldmixon)

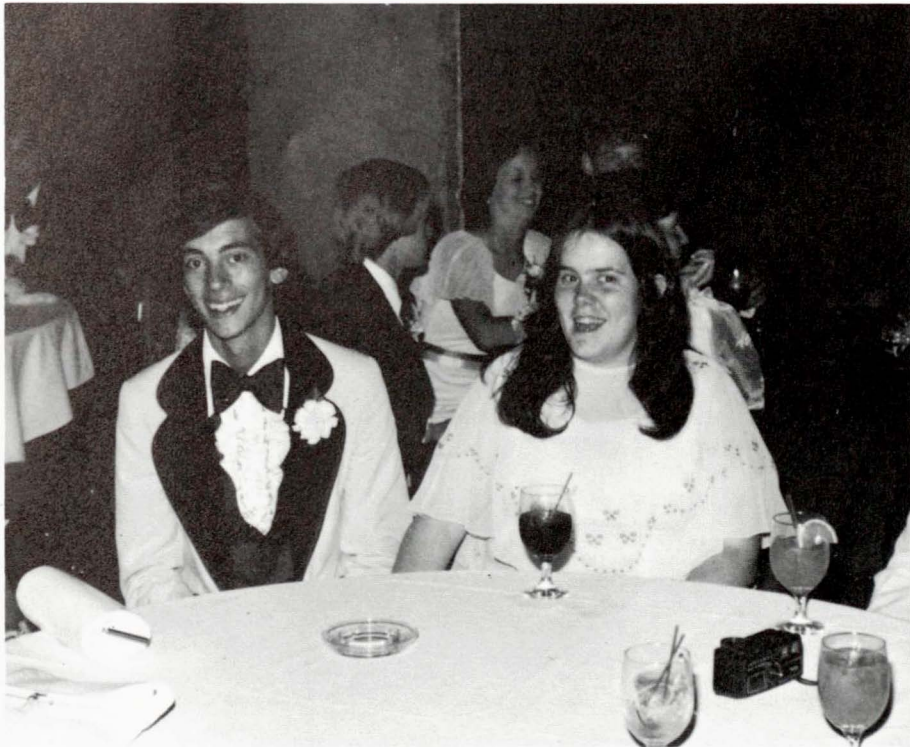

Idle chat made the evening enjoyable.

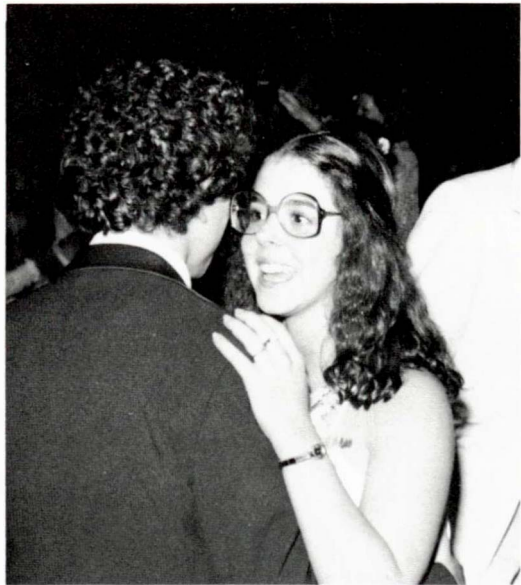

Wanna see Karim smile, wanna see it again? (Karim Basta, Beth Duffy)

Looks like its going to be extra innings tonight. (Jane Donohue, Seth Rubenstein)

Tammy and Tosti take time to talk. (Wayne Tosti, Tammy Schofield)

Robin Sherman and escort.

The Class of '79 as well as many of the parents and teachers that helped us out throughout the year met at Valle's for the last reunion prior to graduation. The night's activities consisted of a special awards ceremony which was highlighted by the gift of a bicycle to Mr. Murphy, class advisor. Dave Angelini and Lloyd Litt showed the senior class documentary they produced and the class officers read parts of the class will. Dancing until 11 o'clock concluded this successful five hour event.

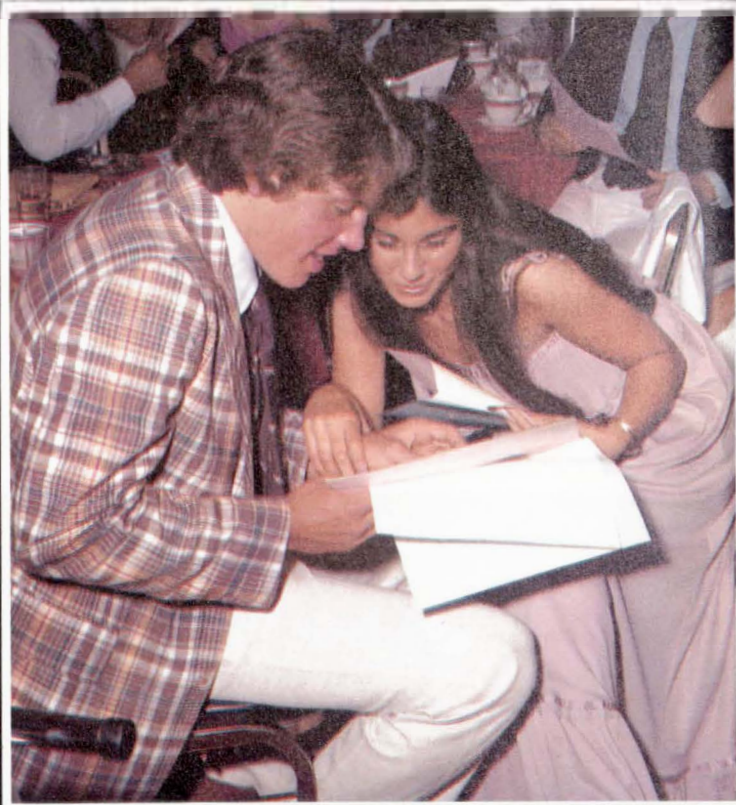

A dual celebration — A birthday and a banquet. (Devon Whitman, Nancy Hall, Susi Noble, Ann Capobianco)

The Class Gift: the bike Mr. Murphy always wanted. (Julie Keating, Pam Christlieb, Mr. Murphy, Hari Close, Mary Kay Browne)

Mr. Scannell received thanks in 12 oz. bottles. (Mr. Scannell, Mary Kay Browne)

WILL they like it? (Scott Tavis, Betsy Smith)

The class of '79 is lookin' mighty fine!

A picture can say a thousand words. The senior movie did more.

The Last Supper 1979 Banquet — May 29

Smiles brightened everyone's night.

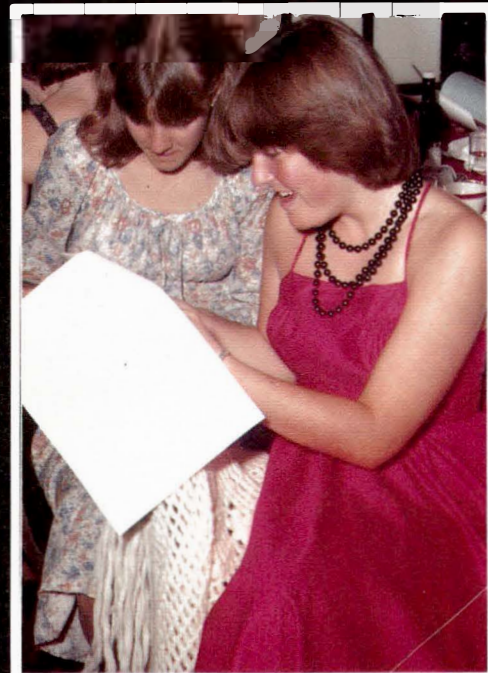

Will it be bachelor number 1, 2, 3, or 4? (Paul Earls, Theo Angelakos, Chuck Doherty, Kathy Buchanan, Gary Pfister)

A small token for a job "will"-fully done. (Carrie Larocca, Hari Close, Lynne McDevitt)

Still rowdie after all these years.

The class will humored us all. (Amy Lyndon, Carrie Gregory)

Ch-Heres to the Class of '79

Only a mere token of our sincere appreciation. (Julie Keating, Pam Christlieb, Miss Milot)

Skip Day '79 — Green Harbor, Gloucester

The day was overcast but our spirits weren't as we headed to Jeff Knott's house on the North Shore. Football games, frisbee flipping and rock climbing headed up the activities while a few brave seniors went swimming or paddling to the island in rubber boats. For relief from the strenuous activities, everyone had taken care to "pack" back-up supplies in coolers.

Most of our class spent from the morning to the late afternoon on the beach, proving that Senior Skip Day was truly a success.

New England beaches were made for parties.

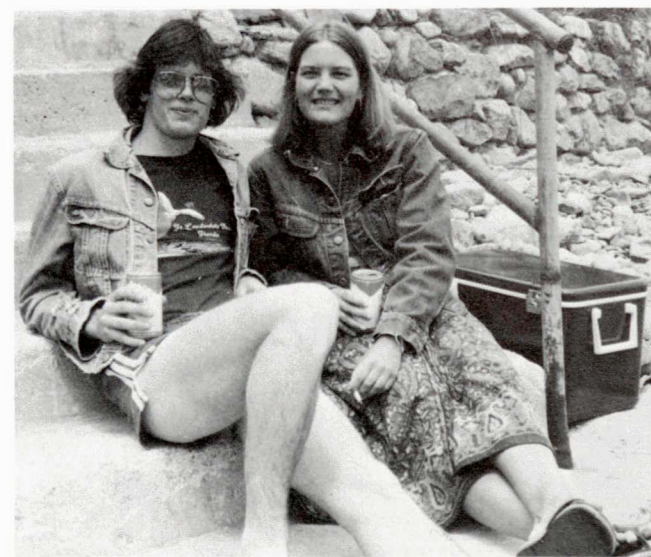

Pals. (Greg Leet, Ann Steinmetz)

Wanna get lucky? (Maria Mastras, Jennifer Gerry)

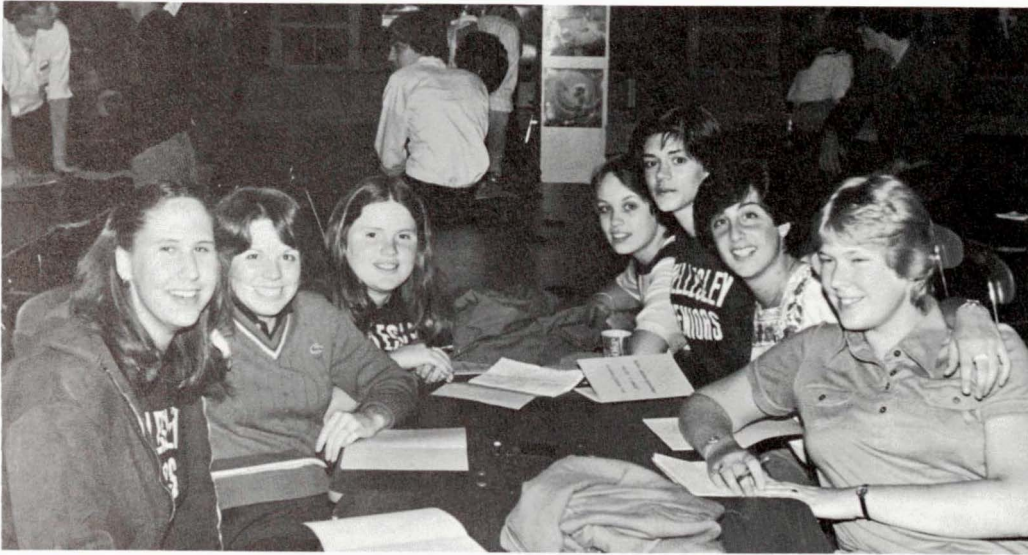

California dreamin' (Elizabeth Humery, Alison Schroeder)

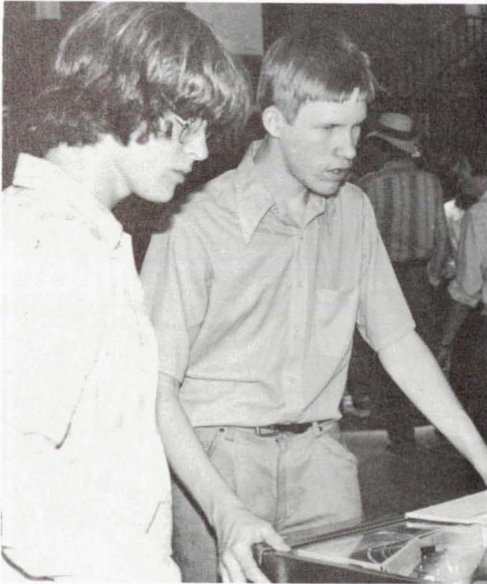

Are you really going to finish off that cooler by yourselves? (Pat Sheridan, Jeannie Bryson)

From Dusk 'til Dawn — June 1 & 2, 1979

The All-Night Party was a huge success. (Rita Pilecki, Beth Grupe, Marcia Cox, Beth Griffin, Marie Areano, Linda Alpert, Sue Cox)

Craw tried his hand at pin-ball. (Ray Paquette, Doug Crawford)

I'm hungry, feed me. (Ted Oxholm, Don Allen, Tim Boyea)

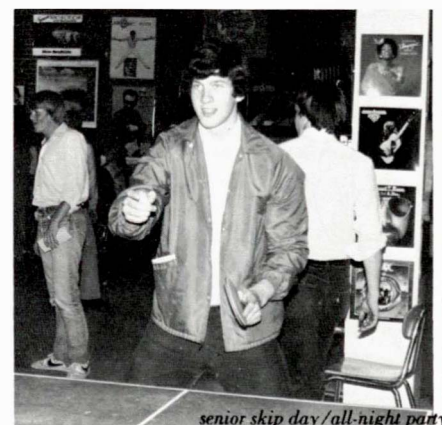

Tim watched a Wallygator tried his flippers (Tim Brown, Walter Lee)

You could have gotten suspended for that!

Ed Sullivan reminded us that you've got a friend!

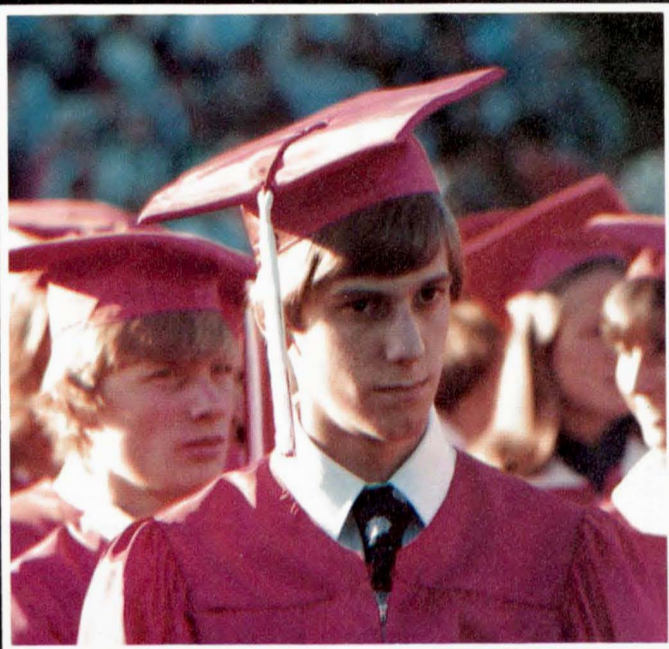

"Have you seen Ho-Jo?" (Graham Rossano)

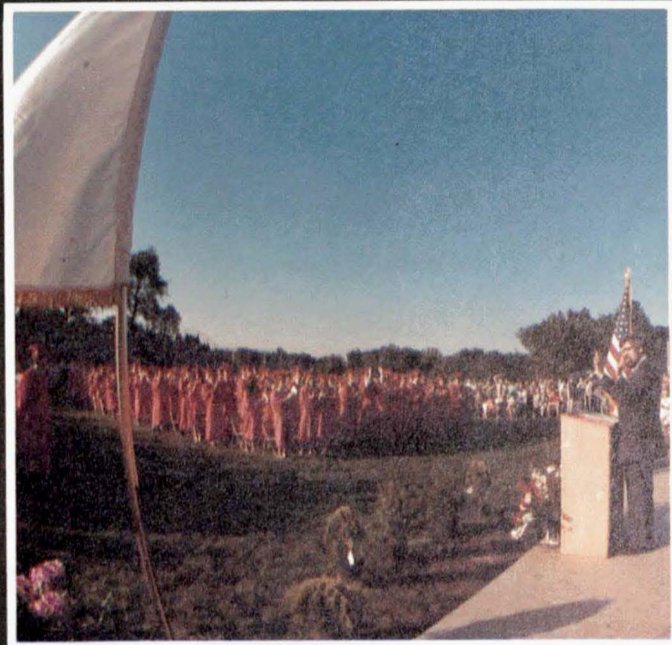

senior skip day/all-night party

"The Famous Final Scene"

Good to have you back. (Chip Kerber)

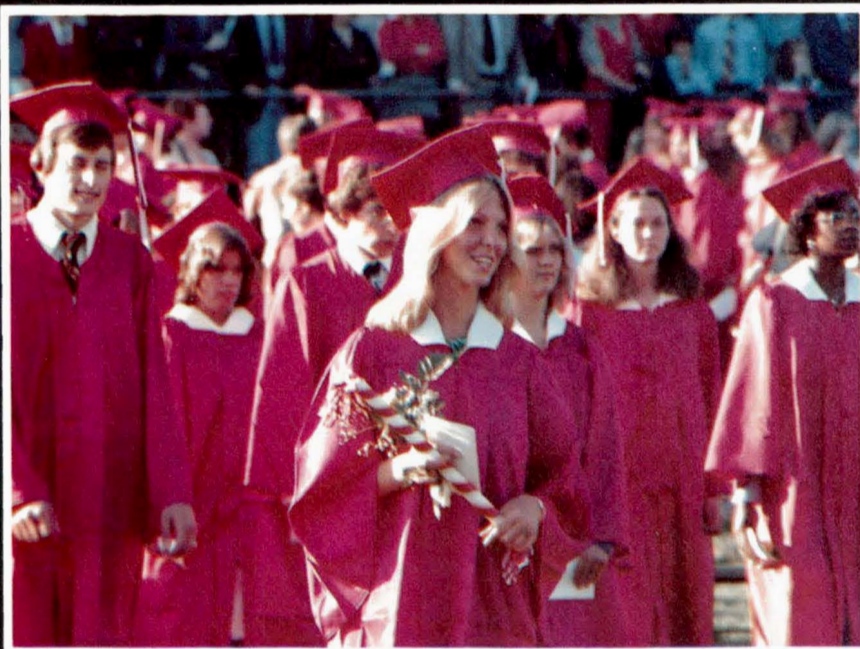

Gerry Murphy moved us all with his inspirational parting words.

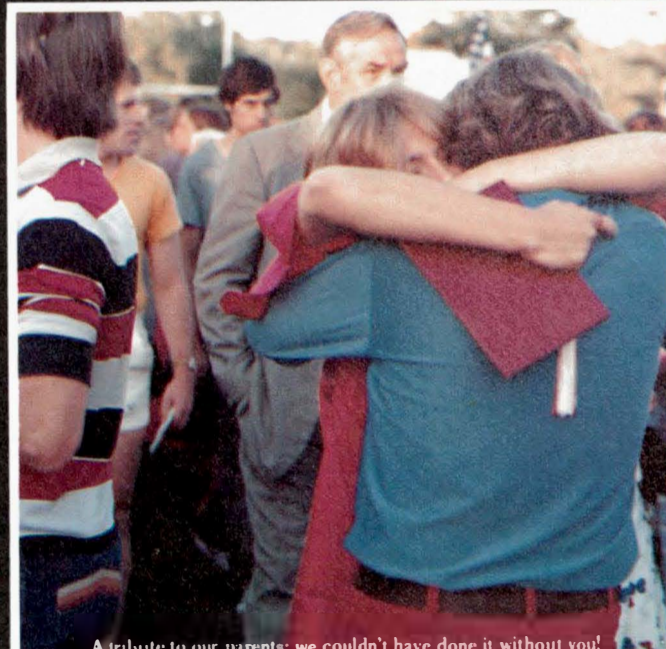

A diploma: promise for the future (Michael Bentley)

The final march.

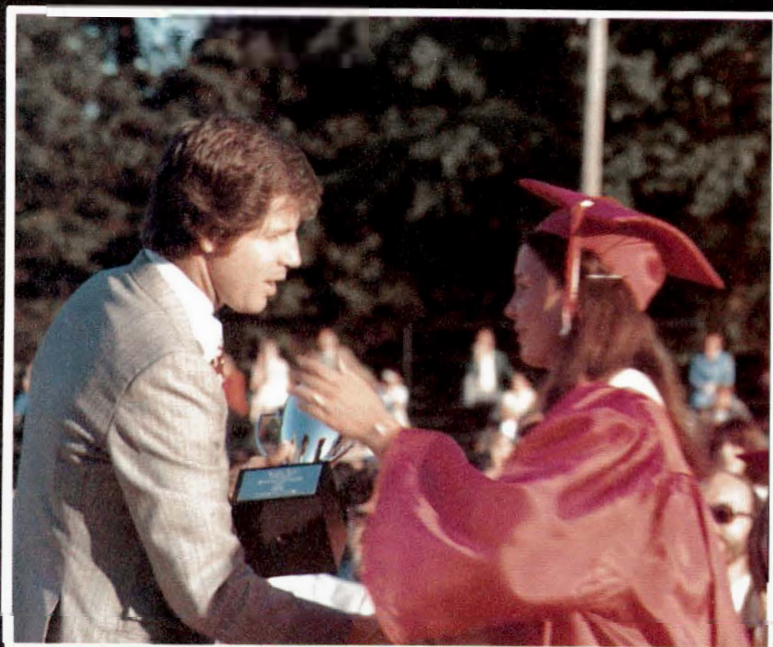

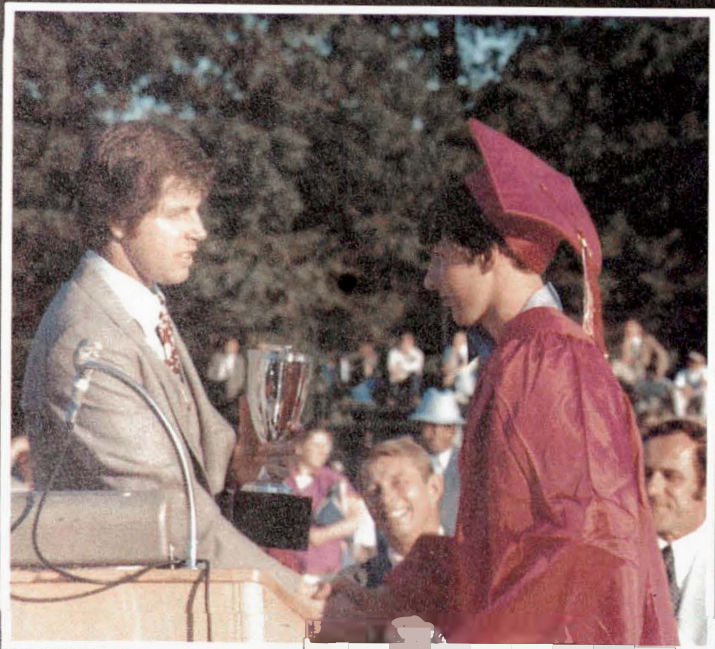

Sunshine on my shoulders. (Pam Christlieb)

A tribute to our parents: we couldn't have done it without you!

Graduation — June 1, 1979

Senior cup winners Doug Morrison and Beth O'Hara.

Anticipation

A band's eye view.

Happiness is a W.H.S. diploma. (Greg Cameron)

A time to be proud. (Francis O'Shea and mother)

Rita Pilecki, Jennifer Clair and Lisa Marcus played their last piece for W.H.S.

One week of straight rain stopped just in time for the 110th graduation of Wellesley Senior High School to be held in bright sunlight. The class was recognized by the school and administration through Reverend Flynn of Saint James Church, Dr. Bruno, Mr. Connor, Mr. O'Leary, and Hari Close.

The senior cups were awarded to Beth O'Hara and Doug Morrison.

A most moving speech was given by Mr. Gerry Murphy, class advisor and guest speaker. This was the culmination of a wonderful year-long relationship between this man and the class of 1979.

He said, "Don't be so quick . . . when your "shoulder is to the wheel" and your "nose to the grindstone, you can't see a sunrise, or smell a flower, or imagine, or see a child grow . . ."

His final dedication to our class was a quote from Yeats, "Think where man's glory most begins and ends and say my glory was I had such friends."

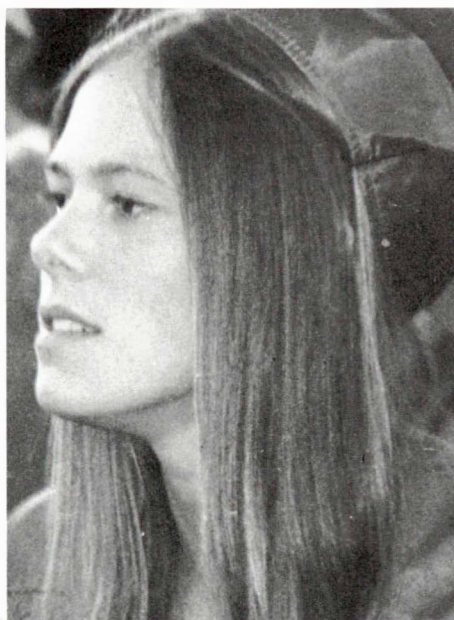

Graduates, Arise! (Pam Christlieb)

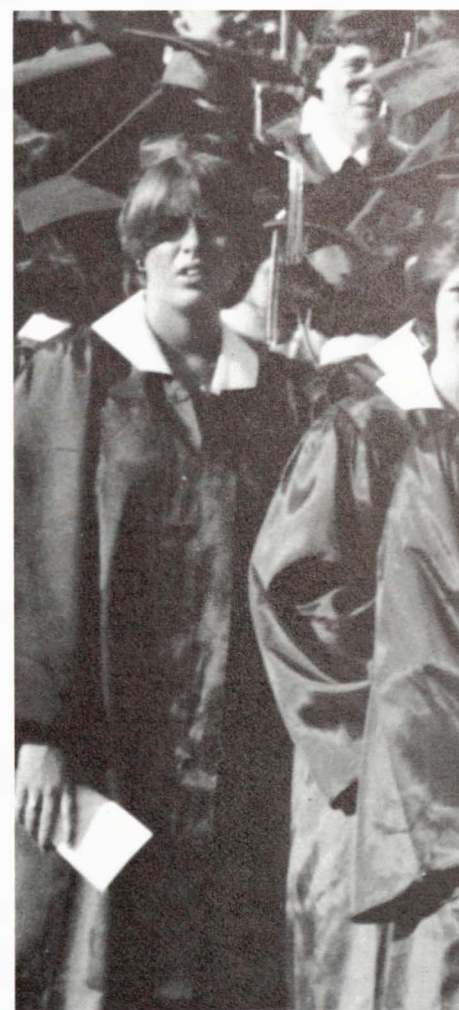

Looking toward the future (Rebecca Black, Ross Anderson, Barbara Buzzell, Michael Bodden)

Mrs. O'Leary spoke in representation of the community.

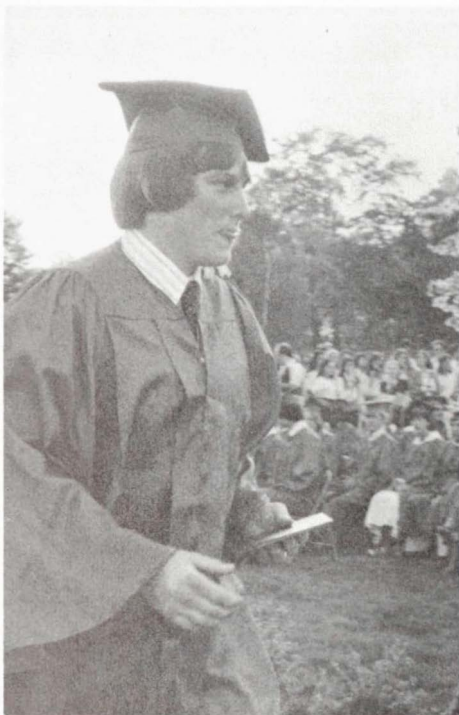

Profile of a graduate. (Kate Clauson)

Waiting in the wings. (Cathy Hankin)

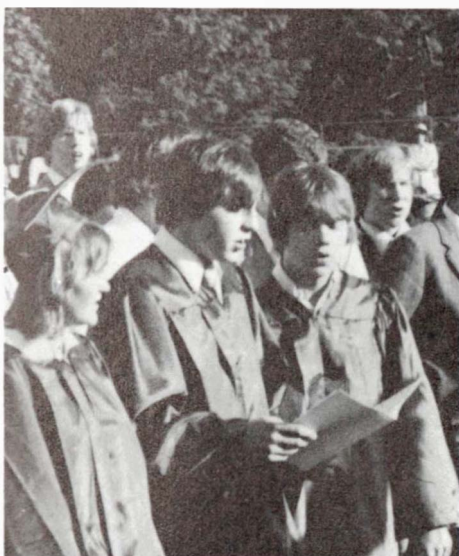

Doug Lowe gets his diploma.

And I can remember when they were small enough to play handball against the curb. (Mr. Vasaturo, Hari Close, Dr. Bruno, Mr. Rockicki, Mr. Murphy)

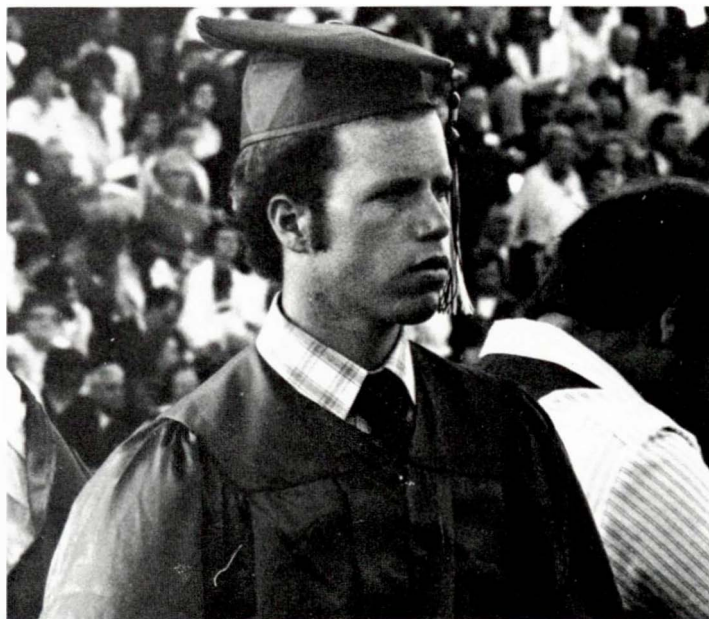

"The Road Not Taken" was sung at graduation. (Nancy Hall, Brian Barrett, Steve Kott)

The long awaited get-together. (Mr. Connors, Chris Parella)

A special day for Little K. (Karen Sherrer)

One last look — how sweet it was. (Tim Morrison)

Changes

Things were just perfect at one point in time,
 The days ran as smoothly as words in rhyme.
 Of course there were obstacles, more than a few,
 But we seemed to conquer them as all others do.
 As life has its changes, so do we all,
 We've lost our bondage like leaves in the fall.
 And as time goes on although it seems strange,
 Our goals and our dreams begin to change.

When the sign on the wall shows a different direction,
 And we've seen our victory and faced our rejection,
 Then now my friends it is time to be strong,
 To say goodbye to those who we've known so long.
 There's no need to look back while on your way,
 For our roads will cross on the chosen day.

© Marcia Mills, 1978.

Farewell

1979 has been a year of mixed emotions on a variety of levels. As the country is torn between momentous yet frightening options concerning energy, inflation, and unemployment, Wellesley High School is no island to these issues. Facing our own problems, we, too, find ourselves at a crossroad. Within the walls of the school, emotions ran high due to faculty reorganization and reduction. At the same time, accreditation was granted and the building of a new addition began. While we attempted to positively influence these conditions, it was inevitable that we would have to learn to accept some change. In the years that follow we will be faced with changes in our lifestyle that may be difficult to deal with. It is necessary to confront these challenges but not necessarily to conquer them. One must remain flexible, openminded, and tolerant to the opinion of others.

Hopefully, we have grown from our exposure to one another and taken with us a small part of our friends. It is because of these close bonds that we would like to dedicate this yearbook to you, the Class of '79. May the fond memories we possess of the last three years never fade.

We would like to extend our thanks to those that helped us capture the memories within the 1979 Wellesleyan. The editors: Isabelle & Sue, Mark, Beth, Steve and Meg, Betsy & Donna, Barbara & Sue, Peter and Karen, Carrie and Sue, Graham, Peggy, & Missy, Karim & Lisa and our advisors Janice and Pat. A special thanks to Beth Courville for her wit in the wee hours of the night, Kirk Miklavic for his dependability and creative photography and Amy Boyd for her versatility and willingness to help. Congratulations to Karim and Lisa for being "awarded" Traditions.

As you read this yearbook and reflect upon your high school years, please remember the words of our dear friend Gerry Murphy, "Don't dwell on your memories. Think about them, yes, but don't abide in them because not only can't you go back, you shouldn't want to go back. You are changing, growing, maturing, expanding individual. You have a myriad of experiences ahead of you. Don't become imprisoned or have your growth stunted or become immobilized by your past."

To you the Class of '79 — Best of Luck!
